Plenty of Attention

Trout River school trustees consider $2,400 a year a "little expensive" to teach one little girl, but six-year-old Carolyn White likes being Miss Elizabeth Dineen's pet—and only pupil in this northern New York school. There were 13 children in the school last year, but the other 12 transferred, leaving Carolyn alone to the $2,000-a-year services of Miss Dineen. Trustees figure books and heat cost another $400. ### Lewis Denounces Green for Action Says A.F.L. Boss Seldom Does Anything for Peace, Security Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—John L. Lewis, bitterly denounced A.F.L. President William Green today for turning down a proposal to help finance a $2,500,000 weekly strike fund for Philip Murray's C.I.O. steel workers.

The mine workers' chief's caustic note to Green said:

"You cry loud for labor peace and later security, but seldom do anything to achieve it."

Lewis said that he himself owned mine workers—themselves on strike—put up $250,000 weekly to help Murray's steel strikers, and that mine A.F.L. unions put up equal amounts.

Green replied that pooling industry resources was "impossible and impracticable" so long as (Continued on Page 10, Col. 7)

265 Vols Finish State Course in Fighting Fires

Woodstock, Oct. 19—Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy of Kingston reported at a meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association here last night that 265 members of the association had completed the state-sponsored basic course in fire-fighting and extinguishing. The course would be ready for distribution within the next month.

The chief addressed the firemen on the need for the fullest possible cooperation among the county's fire companies under the mutual aid plan.

The firemen, who held their regular monthly meeting as guests of the Woodstock Fire Department, saw two films: one touching on the life and experiences of a fireman, and the other contrasting the old and new methods of fire-fighting.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 15 at High Falls.

Return to Work
Fort Jervis, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP)—Thirty-five finishing department employees at the Gillinder Bros. glass manufacturing company plant reported for work today, ending a one-day walkout which closed the plant at noon yesterday.

The finishing department workers remained away from the plant yesterday, protesting a wage change which called for four hours work on Saturdays. At a meeting of the group last night a message was received from Harry Cook, of Cleveland, president of the A.F.L. American Flint Glass Workers Union, ordering the men to return to their jobs. The plant has been operating on a five-day, 36-hour week. The men wanted to continue the five-day schedule under a newly announced regular week.

Blakeslee Holds Many Top Honors

Man Who Will Inform U. S. of Tumor Clinic Is Winner of Coveted Pulitzer Prize

Has College Awards

Universities, Industries, Scientific Bodies Have Recognized Talents

Howard W. Blakeslee, Pulitzer prize-winning Associated Press Science Editor, rewarded for his writing on American Scientific Progress, will attend the opening Thursday at 2:30 of the Ulster County Tumor Clinic.

The announcement came from Samuel G. Blackman, Chief of Bureau, New York General Office of The Associated Press, who said the opening "should make a good national story." Blakeslee was invited to the Tumor Clinic rites by The Freeman.

Blakeslee's decision to attend the opening rites and to inspect the Tumor Clinic will place Kingston and Ulster county in the foreground of scientific progress in the battle against America's No. 1 killer, cancer.

Howard W. Blakeslee has traveled many thousand miles in quest of science news. He has, among scientists, one of the widest acquaintances of any one in America. He was past president of the National Association of Science Writers.

Despite his wide present day knowledge of science, Blakeslee was not trained as a scientist or engineer. He studied at the University of Michigan, earning his way by news writing—mostly sports, and various other items, but no science. In fact, as Blakeslee himself once expressed it, "I never entered a laboratory."

Began on Detroit Journal
He began his full time newspaper work career on the Detroit Journal, serving as special feature writer and as sports editor. In 1905 he joined The Associated Press in New York. Eleyen months later he was placed in charge of the New Orleans Bureau of the Associated Press.

Subsequently he held editorships in charge of important bureaus in Atlanta and Dallas and was news editor of provisions with headquarters respectively at Atlanta, Chicago and New York. When The Associated Press decided to add a feature service in 1928, he was called to organize this department as news photo editor.

In 1927 the position of Associated Press Science editor was created in appreciation of the growing importance of scientific development due to industrial, economic and social progress of the country, and the need for wide dissemination of scientific news. Blakeslee became the science editor in 1928.

Sought Scientific Viewpoint
He came to the laboratory for the viewpoint of the scientist, extracted from them the account of their significant accomplishments and tried to place them into the language of the layman with (Continued on Page 22, Col. 4)

Township Chairmen Named For 1949 TB Seals Drive

Edmund P. Rochford, county chairman of the 1949 Christmas Seal Sale for the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, today announced the various township chairmen.

"Local committees under each chairman," Mr. Rochford said, "will work in cooperation with the county committee in the sale which begins November 21 and continues until Christmas."

He added, "The coordinated efforts will be aimed at raising sufficient money to finance the association's program during the coming year."

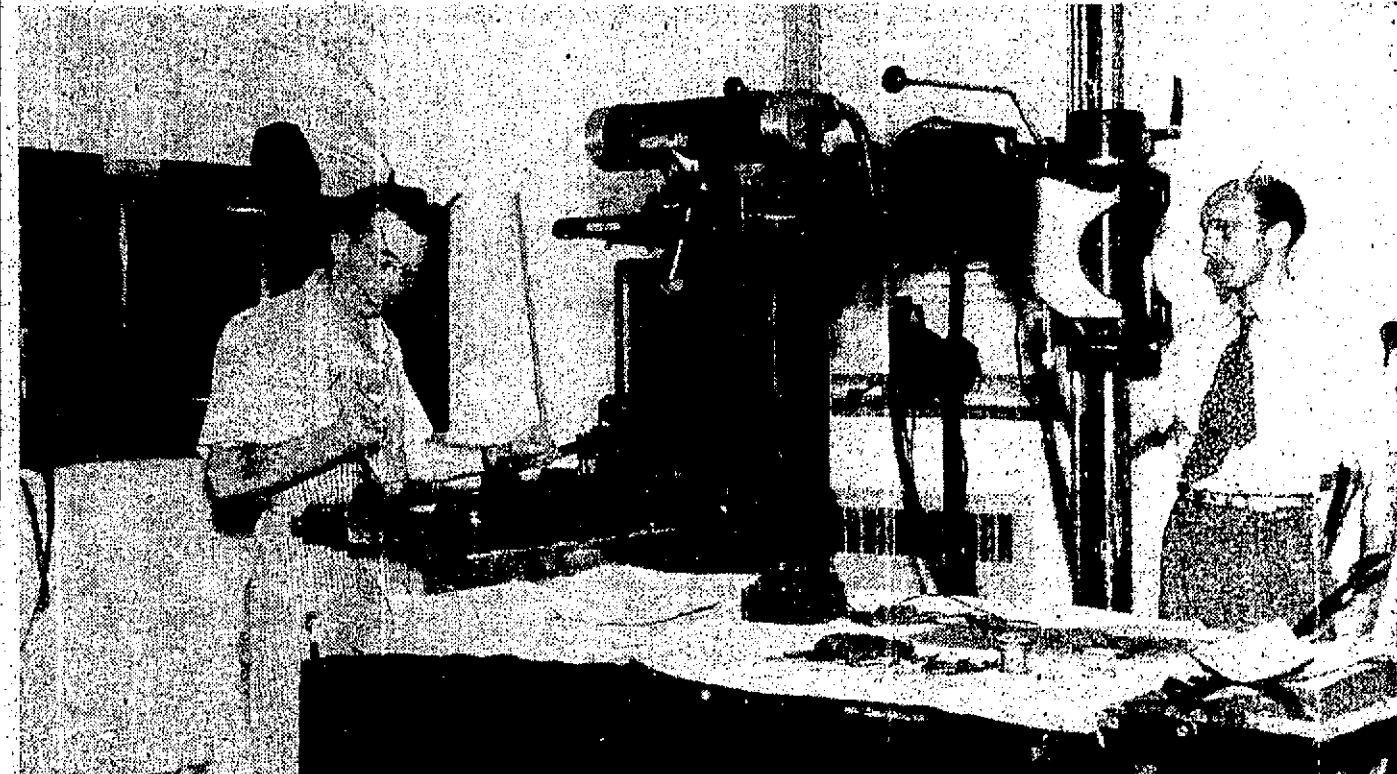

Christmas Seal chairmen for the various townships in Ulster county are:

Dulles Is Ready To Hop All Over Lehman on Issues

Red Support and Bigotry Angles Bring G.O.P. Candidate Out Baiting

Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP)—Senator John Foster Dulles got ready today to hop all over former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman on their Senate campaign issues of Communist support and bigotry.

Aides of the Republican candidate said he would "really go after" Lehman tonight in a statewide (M.B.S.) broadcast from nearby Troy (8 p. m.).

They indicated that Dulles would charge that his Democratic Liberal opponent:

1—Accepted the American Labor Party Senate nomination in 1946, knowing the party then was what Dulles calls, "Communist-dominated and Communist-controlled."

2—Intentionally twisted a Dulles criticism of Communists and fellow-travelers and used it as the basis for accusing Dulles of bigotry.

Dulles, who wound up a campaign swing down the industrial Mohawk valley last night, had an open schedule today.

He said last night that a prominent Jewish leader had rebuked Lehman for making the bigotry charge. Dulles says his "entire life gives the lie" to the accusation.

The senator released this telegram sent him by Joseph N. Rosenberg of New York city, head of the Human Rights Committee of the National Conference of Christians and Jews:

"Dear Foster: I have sent the following telegram to Herbert H. Lehman: 'Dear Herbert: Your charge that Dulles is a bigot disturbs me. I have known him intimately for a quarter century. In the last eight years I have worked constantly in close collaboration with him for the protection of human rights. I know no man who has fought so ably and devotedly for human rights as John Foster Dulles. I hope you will do your part to remove this issue of bigotry from this important campaign.'"

Dulles, in reply, charged that Lehman had injected the bigotry accusation into the campaign "to gain political advantage."

"Already," he said, Lehman's action has "stirred up ugly forces."

The "full reply" tonight will be based on a letter the senator has received from Lehman. In it the former, four-term governor renewed his charge of bigotry against Dulles and said the American Labor Party did not become "Communist-controlled" until after 1946. Lehman claims never has accepted Communist support and has strongly dis-

Russia May Carry Battle On Yugoslavia to Assembly

Leaders Ask Swift Farm Bill Action

House Will Vote First; Compromise Passage Seen Certain

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—Congressional leaders called for swift action today on a newly put together farm bill giving the government broad power to support crop prices near present high levels indefinitely.

With the House due to vote first, passage of the bitterly-won compromise measure seemed certain before the window of this session of Congress, expected tonight.

The bill would permit reductions in price supports for all but a few major commodities next year. However, it gives the Agriculture Department a choice between such action and maintenance of present support standards. In some cases, the actual supports would be higher than they are now.

The new program, a compromise between widely-differing House and Senate bills, was produced by a conference committee yesterday after many hours of haggling.

Most senators and House members expressed satisfaction at the result.

"The measure apparently spells defeat—or at least a long delay—for Secretary of Agriculture Brannan's plan to give consumers the benefit of unsupported farm prices, with the government purchasing subsidies to farmers to assure them a profitable market."

The administration is not expected to give up its fight for the Brannan plan, however. The issue may prove to be an important one in the 1950 congressional campaign which involve the entire House and one-third of the seats in the Senate.

These are the major provisions of the compromise:

1. It directs the secretary of agriculture to support the six basic crops—cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco, rice and peanuts—at 90 per cent of parity next year if restrictions are placed on planting or marketing. For 1951 the minimum supports would range from 80 to 90 per cent. After that they could vary from 75 to 90.

2. It allows two differing parity formulas to operate on these basic crops, with the higher of the two to be used until 1954. The newer formula then would go into effect for good. Parity is a price computed to give a farm product the same relative purchasing power it had in a past, favorable period.

3. It allows supports on all

Vishinsky Says Molotov Wasn't Bluffing as Regards Having Atom Bomb

Lake Success, Oct. 19 (AP)—Russia was reported lining up new strategy today in her furious last-ditch fight to prevent the election of Yugoslavia to the United Nations Security Council.

After Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky's angry blast at the Yugoslavs and their American supporters yesterday, Soviet sources said Vishinsky might try to carry the battle to the floor of the assembly before the balloting begins tomorrow.

Vishinsky revived the Kremlin's lead with Marshal Tito's regime at a news conference in which he also flatly declared that the atomic bomb has been a "real weapon" for Russia since 1947.

Answering questions, Vishinsky said V. M. Molotov (then Soviet foreign minister) was "not bluffing" when he said in 1947 that the American monopoly on the A-bomb no longer exists. It was the most concrete official statement on the A-bomb since President Truman announced last month that an atomic explosion had taken place in Russia recently.

A hectic assembly session Thursday was promised if Vishinsky carries his anti-Yugoslav fight to the floor during the election to fill Security Council vacancies.

Similar Russian efforts to carry on debate during an election led to an uproarious session in 1947 when Russia won her effort to have the Soviet Ukraine elected to the council. Vishinsky then repeatedly was ruled out of order but he and other Communist delegates kept up a steady stream of comments in the guise of points of order.

Baby Found Dead Of Asphyxiation in Lawrenceville Crib

Peter Vivone, seven-weeks-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Vito R. Vivone of Lawrenceville, Rosendale township, was found Tuesday afternoon about 1:30 o'clock strangled in his crib. Mrs. Vivone summoned Dr. Irving Rosenbaum of Stone Ridge and then administered artificial respiration in an effort to revive the baby.

Dr. Rosenbaum pronounced the baby dead of suffocation and Coroner Ernest Kelly was called and County Identification Officer Leonard Behrman was notified and made an investigation.

Mrs. Vivone stated she had fed the baby at about 9 o'clock and then had gone about her work. Later when she went to feed the baby again she was unable to arouse him.

Coroner Kelly gave a verdict of accidental death by asphyxiation. The body was turned over to the George Moylan Home, Rosendale.

New York School Pupils Inspect Catskill Reservoirs

Thirty-seven eighth graders from the Ellsabeth Irwin High School are finding out for themselves what their city is doing to meet the perennial water shortage on a two-day bus trip through the Catskill Mountains. Instead of looping into their classroom as usual Tuesday morning they embarked, along with four teachers, on a combined history and civics lesson—their textbooks the 20-mile stretch of Delaware river valley near Downsville which will someday become a reservoir to meet the city's ever-increasing needs.

One of the main goals of the field study will be to find out at first hand some of the history that will be covered up when the river waters begin to back up in the valley. In the quiet little mountain town in this area still live the families whose ancestors settled the valley before the Revolution. Among those interviewed will be 80-year-old Orson Slack, whose great-grandfather was one of the original settlers. Slack is one of the last of a rugged generation of raftsmen who rode the log rafts down the Delaware. In the spring freshets in the old days, the sawmills of Trenton and Philadelphia.

There will be homework on the one night out during this trip, but not the usual kind. Lodged in a boardinghouse in the valley, the students will entertain as their guests residents who will eventually be moved out as the dammed-up water moves in. Mr. (Continued on Page 17, Col. 6)

Staff Chief Finds Going Is 'Heavy'

Short and Vinson Assail Stand; One Calls It 'Bosh.' Second Lack of Partnership

Calls Navy 'Glib'

Attacks Arguments, Says Policy Shift Would Be Balm to Reds

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg assured Congress today the B-36 bomber and atom bomb "can do the job." He said the fact the United States has them is forcing Russia to concentrate on defense instead of offense.

If this country should follow the navy's advice and cut down on strategic bombing strength, he argued, the Russians would be free to concentrate their productive resources and technical skills on developing offensive power.

Vandenberg, the air force chief of staff, was before the House Armed Services Committee, being back fiercely against what he called the "glib" navy attacks against the air force and its strategic bombing.

But he ran into some heavy weather. Rep. Short (R-Mo.) told him once that what he was saying was "bosh." And Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) said that what is shaking the armed services is that the navy isn't accepted into "full partnership."

"Mr. Chairman," Vandenberg said coolly, "the statement (the emphasis was on the word statement) that the navy has not been taken into full partnership has shaken confidence in the military establishment."

"The navy, in hearings last week, had argued that the air force should spend less time and money on strategic bombers and more on tactical air power to support ground operations."

Such a policy shift as this, Vandenberg said, would mean that "we would give up the deterrent value of this nation's atomic weapon and we would place ourselves in disagreement with all of those people who, on both sides of the ocean, believe that Soviet aggression is in fact now being deterred."

"We would inform the Russians that they need not take no defensive measures against a possible atomic attack on their heartland. B-36s, B-47s and B-50s by merely existing can do force the Soviet Union to channel its industrial power, technological skill, manpower and money into purely defensive measures and thus cut down resources which would otherwise be devoted to offensive purposes."

"If war is forced on us, this proposal deprives us of the opportunity of choking off enemy war-making power at its source."

First Took Up Attacks
Vandenberg, accompanied to the hearing by Air Secretary Symington, who testified yesterday, and by top air force generals, first took up the attacks by navy officers on national defense policies which set high importance on strategic bombing. He read to the committee excerpts from a joint chiefs of staff document saying the chiefs, separately and jointly, agree that the policies are sound.

Admiral Louis Denfeld, chief of naval operations and a member of the joint chiefs, last week told the committee he supported other admirals who had criticized the strategic bombing concept.

"The strategic air command, Vandenberg said, operates directly under the joint chiefs of staff, rather than the air force."

This nation's strategic plans are not made "on a lone-wolf basis," Vandenberg said, but in "increasingly close cooperation" with the free nations of western Europe.

Vandenberg denied, as Secretary Symington did yesterday, that the air force is "putting all its eggs in one basket"—the B-36. The navy so charged last week.

Actually, Vandenberg said the strategic air command operates only 20 per cent of the plants of the entire air force, and only 50 per cent are B-36s. The B-36 units (Continued on Page 22, Col. 1)

Hoover's Audience
Rocks With Glee
At Witty Speech

New York, Oct. 19 (AP)—Herbert Hoover kept an audience laughing for seven minutes last night by telling them why he couldn't get in the headlines.

In a short and witty talk the former president called a roll of current events.

He and Gen. George C. Marshall were at a New York Board of Trade dinner to receive gold plaques for "distinguished contributions to the American way."

Mr. Hoover started off by saying he had searched for a topic that would make page one—the "real test" of whether he had justified the award.

Mr. Hoover—who has been on page one quite a lot recently as head of the Commission to Reorganize the Executive Branch of the Government—then said it ought to shock the world if he said something about balancing the budget.

"But this hasn't clicked in the headlines for the last 18 years," said the ex-president, long known for his serious manner.

Then he said he could give a financial lecture on why foreign loans never would be repaid.

"But that hasn't been news since the first World War," he said.

The audience of 1,200, somewhat surprised by Mr. Hoover's approach, first smiled and then burst into laughter as he made his points.

"I might define the welfare state," he went on, "but I feel it would be respectful to concede the President has a monopoly of shocks from that quarter."

He also said that federal reorganization — his latest public study — is as popular among political parties as mustard plasters had been among "our grandmothers."

"But it has the same sort of exception—the fellow to be reorganized," he added. "The walls and miseries of its application today take all the headlines, not the reasons for reorganization."

Mr. Hoover said it was no use talking about world unity because "it is vitriolic international conversation that gets page one, column one."

After saying that President Truman's "point four" plan to aid backward nations would mean quadruple, not just double taxation, Mr. Hoover said none of the topics would do.

"For all these reasons and for the good of your digestion, I will spend on none of these subjects," he said. Then he expressed his thanks for the award and sat down.

The awards were presented to Kenneth G. Bayliff, dean of University College at Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y., and Dick Hull, director of radio for Iowa State College at Ames, Iowa.

LAST ESTATE—When Army Private Eugene Bunch, 10, committed suicide in Cheyenne, Wyo., he left his 19-year-old widow this amazing assortment of goods, ranging from jars of peanut butter to diamond rings. Police said Bunch's death ended a six-month career of robbery. The soldier's worry over inability to dispose of the stolen goods may have caused his suicide, they said.

Visions of Virgin
Bring Worshippers

Thurn, Germany, Oct. 19 (AP)—Seven little German girls who say they see visions of the Virgin Mary are bringing thousands of worshippers to a hillside near this little Bavarian village.

Twenty thousand Roman Catholics chanted for an hour last night around the seven girls kneeling before what they claimed was a vision of the Virgin Mary. The girls say they have seen the vision nightly since Oct. 9.

The seven—all from 10 to 12 years old—say the Virgin appears to them "in the sky above the trees," dressed all white and carrying a black Rosary.

A 13-year-old boy said he saw the vision once. A three-man church commission is investigating their story.

Some of the children also have recently seen the Hollywood movie "Song of Bernadette" that dramatizes the story of the young French girl who claimed the Virgin appeared before her at Lourdes, in 1858.

Last night the thousands of Germans watched quietly as the little girls, attended by three priests, prayed on top of an open truck.

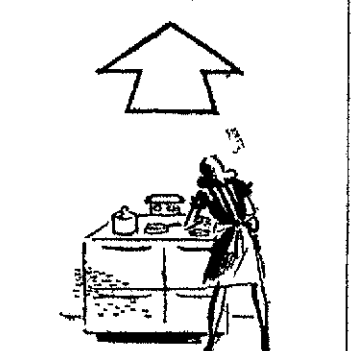

First two, then all the girls knelt, then sign that they saw the vision. Led by the priests, the crowd began to pray aloud. For an hour the girls knelt, hardly moving, surrounded by the chanting throng.

Then they stood up their signal that the vision had gone. The crowd quietly slipped away.

GOVERNMENT POSITIONS

Even economy-minded citizens may applaud Congress for boosting the pay of cabinet members and some 200 other top government executives.

Everyone knows that low salaries have long discouraged many able men from accepting government duty. Presidents from 'way back have bemoaned their inability to attract or keep the talent needed for highly responsible posts.

The action of Congress will make these jobs a more powerful magnet. It seems absurd that positions which are of such paramount importance to the American people should go empty or be filled with mediocre men.

Citizens in nearly all walks of life should be ready to enter public service if their productive capacities are needed. This duty probably always will represent a sacrifice in some degree, but it should not be too great a one.

Many who are called upon to serve will not, of course, wish to make a lifetime career of it. They will prefer to be out of the public eye, to be doing something closer to their own personal wishes. No amount of money could prevent their return to private pursuits.

Thus it seems to us that the effort to improve the caliber of government executives cannot end with hiking their salaries. A way must be found to develop a career service that will produce top-bracket men to form a stable core in government.

It isn't easy to say what we need to assure this objective. Years ago a man bent on a life of public service couldn't find any place to obtain special training. Now numerous colleges offer courses in government administration and policy-making.

But some of those eager to raise the quality of administration think these opportunities aren't enough. Occasionally you hear it suggested that the country ought to have a sort of West Point for government students, a highly specialized, exacting institution that would turn out men acknowledged everywhere as top-level administrators.

If such a school served to enhance the prestige of government duty, it would probably be well worth establishing. For, in spite of the public attention that normally attaches to government service in executive posts, the prestige value of most of these jobs has never been too high.

Men contemplate with pride the idea of a career in medicine or law. They feel no shame at aspiring to the leadership of a business concern. But not many embrace government service with the notion they will promptly be hailed as distinguished men of standing in society.

Until government is viewed generally as a prime outlet for men of talent, it is not likely to solve its manpower needs simply through offering higher salaries. It might be argued that money will go a long way toward adding prestige to public jobs. But we are inclined to think that something more is needed, something that will give government administration a stamp of distinction growing out of deep psychological satisfactions.

FUTURE OF THE DERBY

Will the Kentucky Derby hold its own as a widely attended spectacle since the death of its promoter, Col. Matt J. Winn? He started the race in 1875 and has attended every one since, and his unswerving efforts to spread its fame are held to be almost entirely responsible for its success.

For the Derby and for other events of the kind the crowd is as much the spectacle as the race itself. The uninitiated might otherwise wonder why so many thousands will flock to see an event which is over in two minutes.

MOSCOW AND BELGRADE

WORDS ARE A WEAPON

What was established at the trial of the Communist leaders in Judge Medina's court is that words are a weapon, that men may conspire to use words to undermine the morale of a people and to destroy a state. A jury of New Yorkers found that these eleven men, and William Z. Foster will be the twelfth, did conspire to overthrow the government of the United States by teaching, writing, preaching, by the organization of various bodies, by infiltrating into schools, colleges, newspapers, radio, churches, labor unions and all sorts of bodies of the people. Their guilt was established by their words.

The Communists will appeal from Judge Medina's sentence and the jury's determination. They will appeal on constitutional grounds, namely, that whatever they advocated, they had a right to advocate under the First Amendment to the constitution. They will contend that they had committed no overt act and that no evidence had been adduced that they had committed an overt act. They will plead freedom of speech, of the press, and of assembly.

When they come before the Supreme Court of the United States, therefore, the issue will be clear. A great body of testimony has been taken over a period of nearly nine months and much of it consists of words written and spoken by Communists to those men who were on trial. The prosecution sought to and did establish that words can be a weapon for the destruction of a people. The defense took the position that they were entitled to say anything they please so long as they do nothing more than speak. In a word, their contention is that it is impossible to prove that they conspired to overthrow the government of the United States until and unless it could be proved that they had actually overthrown the government. A jury disagreed with them.

Actually, what the Supreme Court will have to decide is at what point do men, who only speak and write, organize and preach become dangerous to the existence of the nation. Their decision will be momentous because it will involve two propositions:

1. The liberties of the individual under the constitution.

2. The continued existence of the United States as an independent nation.

It will be a great danger to the American people if their liberties under the constitution are abridged, and among the greatest of these liberties are freedom of speech, freedom of the press, and the right of assembly. On the other hand, we have, for 32 years now, witnessed the phenomenon of one nation, Soviet Russia, violating the integrity of all other nations by the use of a vast propaganda apparatus that utilizes words as weapons, that infiltrates into the life of a people, even into the organs of government, and that ultimately leaves that nation incapable of self-defense. The process is slow but constant, and the words that we used involve a total destruction in the traditions of a nation and in faith in its continued existence. It contends the inevitability of its own success.

Utilizing Karl Marx's philosophy of dialectic materialism, reinterpreting history to ignore religion, morals, ethics as forces, revealing all that man has accepted as truth for thousands of years as a deception, endeavoring which leaves a nation without standards, and without hope. For everything fine in life, the class struggle is substituted. Man is a product of biologic forces, conditioned by his environment, struggling everlastingly against all that besets him, and producing nothing but further struggle, contention, and clash. But which succeeds is inevitably right, and it is right because it has survived. Therefore, that which does not survive because it has failed is ipso facto wrong and may therefore be destroyed.

It is a devastating philosophy without charity, pity, compassion, love, loyalty, faith. And yet, it is to many very attractive. It gives them a sense of power. It satisfies their craving for a non-mystical, non-religious explanation of man. Since Russia supports this movement, it gives them a sense of power. For the romantic, it provides a cause. To the United States, it is a menace and an ever-present danger.

SOME CAUSES OF THIN BLOOD

A physician making an examination of a patient complaining of tiredness and weakness examines the blood for the number of red blood cells or corpuscles, and also for the amount of hemoglobin (iron) in these red cells. If the number of cells is below normal, liver or liver extract is given, and if the amount of hemoglobin is below normal, in addition to liver and liver extracts, iron is given. The disease, however, thin blood, is called anemia.

Sometimes a physician finds that despite his treatment with liver and iron the patient's blood does not improve and thus knows that something is interfering with the natural increase in the number and richness (the red cells or corpuscles). A close examination may reveal that the skin is wax-like, the patient is inclined to be slow in his or her movements and is somewhat overweight. The wax-like skin and overweight points to an underactive thyroid gland which is not pouring enough thyroid juice into the blood. A metabolism test shows the thyroid gland to be underactive to the extent of 10 to 20 per cent; which is causing all the symptoms—thin blood, and slowness of all the body processes.

In the "Connecticut State Medical Journal," Dr. Sidney E. Eisenberg, New Britain, reports a case of a woman who had had a severe loss of blood, which, despite blood transfusions and a long course of iron treatment, failed to improve. The metabolism test showed the thyroid gland to be underactive, and she was immediately given thyroid extract to speed up the thyroid gland. She was first given only one half grain daily; this was increased gradually over a period of three months to a maintenance dose of 3 grains daily. After 7 months treatment the basal metabolism rate was normal, and the illustrations showed a more alert and active looking woman.

While thyroid extract, by means of the metabolism test, was the treatment found necessary in this case many cases, where blood remains thin despite liver and iron treatment, are caused by infection somewhere in the body—tooth, gums, tonsils, gall bladder, large intestine.

angry status and war is the severance of formal diplomatic relations. This step would be as injurious to Russia as to the Yugoslavs. A diplomatic staff can find out a good many things about the country to which it is accredited; there is no sense in closing up a listening post until the last moment.

If the Russians should withdraw their ambassador and his assistants from Yugoslavia, that might be a sign that war is coming. Till then, relations are still in the name-calling stage, and it is well known that hard words break no bones.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Last year, the 80th Congress investigated an army propaganda mill which used taxpayers' money to sell the American public on military conscription; while Senator Byrd of Virginia also criticized any branch of the government that issued a press handbook publicizing its operation.

But today there operates backstage in the navy, a secret publicity bureau almost solely dedicated to smearing the army and air forces and disrupting unification.

The publicity bureau is called "Operation 23" and it consists of 12 officers and 17 enlisted men, all on regular duty and officially assigned to this detail. The detail is commanded by a full-fledged naval captain, Capt. Arleigh Burke, with Commander Thomas Davies second in command.

This underground unit takes orders chiefly from Admiral Arthur Radford, outspoken critic of the B-36.

Significantly, Operation 23 has been flooding newspapers with anti-army propaganda at the same time an official naval board has been investigating another navy smear—the secret memo which claimed that Secretaries Symington and Johnson ordered the B-36 because of personal or monetary gain.

This vicious myth, now completely exploded, was written by Cedric Worth, a civilian naval employee—or at least he assumed responsibility. Worth, it now develops, was a part of Operation 23. And even before the Board of Admirals had finished its probe of the Worth smear, more propaganda began flooding the newspapers—some of it sent through the medium of Naval Reserve Capt. James Stahlman, publisher of the Nashville (Tenn.) Banner.

Note—One member of Operation 23 is Lt. Sam Ingram, a naval reservist. Ingram reported for two weeks' active duty one year ago, wrote Admiral Radford a letter castigating the air force, got a call from Radford to drop in for a personal visit. The visit lasted two hours, and Lt. Ingram has been on permanent duty turning out cartoons and charts against the air force ever since. His salary for that year of sniping at another branch of the armed services was paid for by the taxpayer.

Big Business' New Partner
In the battle to restore the basing-point system, big business has had a unique partner—Senator Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming, the famous trust-buster.

No one could believe that O'Mahoney would come out on the side of the big trusts. Hence, many liberals were lulled to sleep by the fact that O'Mahoney introduced the basing-point bill.

In the eyes of big business, this is the most important bill to come up this session of Congress. For it would amend the anti-trust laws so that the steel industry, for example, could charge the same price for steel from the blast furnaces of Pittsburgh, Pa., or Geneva, Utah. This privilege of regulating prices by absorbing the shipping costs was outlawed by the Supreme Court, so big business turned to Congress to overrule the court.

O'Mahoney made his bill sound so harmless that it almost passed the Senate without an objection. Only at the last minute, Senators Russell Long of Louisiana and Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, both Democrats, caught what was going on, and put up a fight against it.

Back in O'Mahoney's trust-busting days, he bitterly criticized the basing-point system as a conspiracy by the trusts to regulate prices. That's the reason his colleagues couldn't understand why he now introduced a bill to restore the basing-point system.

In fact, because of O'Mahoney's reputation, many senators still believe his bill would encourage instead of stifle competition.

What they don't know, however, is that O'Mahoney was sold a bill of goods by the Westvaco Chemical Company of Westvaco, Wyo. This company has paraded as an independent which discovered large trona deposits in Wyoming and now hopes to build a new chemical business producing soda ash from natural trona.

Who's Fooling Whom?
The senator from Wyoming wanted to emphasize the independence of the company when he brought Robert D. Pike, an engineer for Westvaco, to Washington to testify.

"This is an independent plant, is it not?" O'Mahoney asked about the Wyoming plant.

"Yes, sir; entirely so," nodded Pike.

"It is not a subsidiary to any other plant engaged in the same business?" the ex-trust buster brought out again.

"No, it is not," replied Pike. "So that if and when established to develop the potentialities of this deposit, it will be an independent competitive enterprise," O'Mahoney added.

"That is correct, senator," agreed Pike.

Mixed Up With I. G. Farben

It is described in business directories as "one of the principal producers of industrial chemicals in the United States," and it was involved in court action this year through the International Cartel in Alkali. On August 12, the mother company was slapped with a court injunction for violating the Sherman anti-trust act through this cartel. Named as co-conspirators were I. G. Farben Company, of Germany, and Solvan El Cie. of Belgium. The head of the British cartel, Imperial Chemicals Industries, Ltd., of London, was also named as a defendant through its subsidiary, Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd., of New York.

The court charged that the co-conspirators had been parties since 1924 to contracts governing the sale of alkalis in the world market, and that the American cartel members had agreed to prevent other independent American firms from selling alkalis to foreign markets. This agreement was enforced by a policing system by which inspectors on U. S. docks bought up any materials likely to get into the hands of other exporters, it was charged.

So it now turns out that the Westvaco company, which is shelling its independence, is actually tied to an international cartel.

Some senators are now wondering where that leaves Senator Joe O'Mahoney, the great trust buster.

Note—Among the affiliates of Wyoming's so-called independent plant are Warner Chemical Co., New Jersey; Westvaco Chlorine Products Corp., of New York and New Jersey; West Virginia Chemical Co., Barium Products, Ltd., of California, and Monarch Chemicals Co., of New Jersey.

Hypocrisy of 'Unification' Is Wrapped Up in Air Force Authority Given by Congress

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 19—Why is it that, when the President of the United States together with the joint chiefs of staff, the secretary of defense and the director of the budget all say unanimously that they want a 48-group air force, Congress deliberately votes for a 58-group and authorizes $740,000,000 more than requested?

Why does Congress spend more money on one armed service than the military chiefs of staff, who serve themselves officially say they want to spend on aircraft and related items?

If the answers to these questions could be authoritatively established, the American people would know more about what is happening to defense expenditures than they know today and they could learn what hypocrisy is wrapped up in the word "unification."

Possibly the following paragraph from a press dispatch Tuesday forenoon on the stock market furnishes a clue:

"Gains throughout the main list were mostly in the fractional zone but aircraft manufacturing stocks rose more than two points on expectations that Congress would approve the appropriation bill authorizing a 58-group air force."

Unquestionably with a $17,000,000,000 military appropriation bill, a huge "pork barrel" is possible which affects the voting of members in whose districts large sums are to be spent.

The House of Representatives would normally be more sensitive to this kind of thing than the Senate, because air force installations and expenditures are made in local areas that could affect a district more than a whole state's vote. A member of Congress looking forward to the continuation of a plant in his district, which employs many thousands of workers, would be expected by the local Chamber of Commerce and the citizenry of that area to support such appropriations.

This does not, of course, explain all the pressure exerted by the House members as against the Senate, which wanted only a 48-group air force. It seems strange that the members of Congress knew precisely the manner in which the extra sums were to be expended. They must have gotten their information from the air force officers familiar with procurement. Obviously the air force has to furnish whatever data a member of Congress requests, but the other day a Navy Department employee, by the name of Cedric Worth, was piloted for furnishing information clandestinely to members of Congress.

From whom did the detailed figures on what would be spent on a 58-group air force emanate? Were they cleared with the secretary of defense? Was the secretary placed in the position of saying he wanted only a 48-group air force while data was being furnished by his subordinates tending to make that President Truman and the director of the budget and the joint chiefs of staff didn't know what they were talking about when they insisted on a 48-group air force? Did any members of the armed services go over to the side of the secretaries of defense and the joint chiefs of staff and lobby for a 58-group air force?

Explanations as to why the Senate capitulated to the demands of the House conference members and why the latter were so adamant for a 58-group air force, despite President Truman's repeated insistence that there was pressure from areas in which the aviation industry has a big stake. The new bill not only carries appropriations for immediate building of aircraft but also "contingent authority" which extends beyond this year. A member of Congress who doesn't get some of this "pork" might incur the hostility of persons in his own district, but certainly the interest of the taxpayers as a whole appears to be neglected. Rivers and harbors money which filled the "pork barrels" of previous Congresses were not so generous compared to defense bill pork.

Plainly the 58 and 48-group air force episode would furnish an interesting opportunity for a study by some disinterested body as to what really influences Congress these days to spend more and more of the people's money in the face of the huge tax payments which the people are making.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Oct. 18—The collapse of the English system of civil rights was caused not by Tories or capitalists but by the labor unions. The English workers are chained to his job and may be put in jail for refusal to work at his assigned task even though it may call him far from home. The unions threw in with the Marxian Socialists of the labor party, whose policy is the same as that of the Russian Bolsheviks. But the voters were deceived because the party politicians were careful not to call their program socialism. They called themselves "planners," and invented a jargon to disguise intentions which the people otherwise would have understood.

Meanwhile, the workers of the United States unwittingly and unwillingly are helping this Marxian government to make permanent the degradation of the British people. Our government's financial support of the adventurers and incompetents who thus got control of the British government by false pretenses is all that has kept it in power. So it follows that the American people, without knowing that we were doing so, have helped very materially to destroy the liberties of the breed who established the basis of our own liberties.

Whatever the emotional attitude of individual Americans toward the English, and many of us dislike them only for petty reasons, the fact cannot be scoffed away that they established, and our founding fathers copied, the limitation of the power of government over the people.

driving, dragging the American people to the same socialism or communism.

The British Labor Government inched up to labor conspiracy. Had these brutal crimes not been intended to drift and "inspire" labor they would have been turned out long ago. Labor is a force in Germany and Italy. The British had observed more sharply than the Americans that the democratic majority is the most brutal tyrant of all "Mediterranean" as we have observed in the politics of our own union rackets, usually of men of middle age, who are by majority of these present "majority" votes of conventions where the ruling gangsters pass upon the credentials of all the delegates.

It would be easy to trace the facts that Mussolini and Hitler are the product of the democratic process. We forget too easily that Mussolini and Hitler were very popular. They would have been endorsed overwhelmingly in popular referenda just as David Dubinsky, John Lewis, Dan Tobin, Joe Morehead and Bill Mahoney, et al. union rackets, are endorsed by "majorities."

After these British Marxists have taken power, they will be able to do what they wish. They begin by seeking an imaginary class of rascals, whom the newspaper stooges called "spies" for refusing to take patriotic penitence work. Americans are called daily that word "spies" only for its exquisite beauty because it means a cult of least some rascals.

They sent us and we painted pictures of repulsive creatures to make the American reader despise the "spies" and sympathize with the Labor government's efforts to coerce him to do work it wanted him to do. Incompetent to do a job under freedom, this gang of mountebanks did not hesitate to inflame public anger against Americans who had fought bravely in the war. If you insist, stood on their rights as Englishmen. More sensitive at more appetizing Englishmen submitted they had no help for it, seem of their neighbors which would be fomented by the Labor government.

The "spies" may have been a rally character, but his defiance was a futile blow for the freedom of all Britons.

The Labor government matched each step in its own failure with a step toward the enslavement of labor. When the volume of manpower thus driven from "non-essential" to "patriotic" work still

Questions-Answers

Q—Where is the oldest of Cleopatra's Needles?
A—Cleopatra's Needles are only two of many obelisks which the ancient Egyptians produced. The oldest of all of these which stand today is at Heliopolis, a small city near Cairo. This one is 87 feet high and its weight has been estimated at 121 tons.

Q—When did Mary Garden, the famous opera star, retire?
A—She retired at the age of 40 at the peak of her career to live near Aberdeen, Scotland, her native land. She plans to return to the United States for a lecture tour.

Health Nurses' Salaries Studied by Association

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP)—A study of salaries to be used in collective bargaining and paid holidays, both for public health nurses, are under consideration by the New York State Nurses Association.

The salary scale ranges from $2,700 a year for registered nurses to $7,500 for top public health nursing executives.

Eleven paid holidays and a 20-day vacation period annually also were recommended yesterday by the association by its public health section.

A pension program to "provide for reasonable income" at the voluntary retirement age of 55 or compulsory age of 65 also was urged.

The proposed pay scale is subject to the approval of the association's state board. The association is holding its biennial convention here.

The school nurse teachers section recommended that school nurse teachers receive equal pay with teachers.

PLUNGES TO DEATH

Lions Hear About Part Oil Plays in Life of the Nation

"It is surprising how many services of the petroleum industry are not generally known or understood," Frank Hayes of Albany, representative of the Ethyl Corporation, told members of the Kingston Lions Club at a luncheon meeting in the Governor Clinton Hotel Tuesday noon.

Hayes' talk, given in observance of National Oil Progress Week, stressed the influence of oil and oil products on the lives of Americans.

"Progress in our standards of living has closely paralleled that of oil," he said.

Because of the improvements in gasoline, at first considered a by-product of the oil industry, today this country has over 41 million motor vehicles and more than three million miles of well-paved roads, he said.

Petroleum also plays a big part in agricultural advances, he said, stressing recent development of oil-bake sprays.

In the home, asphalt used for insulation is an oil product, as are shaving lotions, linoleum, varnish, rayon, oil paper, jelly, and even in the ink on the daily newspaper which is read in all homes, Hayes said. Beauty aids for women, many types of medicine and plastics are made with oil products, he added.

Others who participated in the program were Harry Rigby, president of the Kiwanis Club and a representative oil dealer, and Eugene Pemberton, division manager for Cities Service. C. Robert Cousins was program chairman and presided at the meeting in the absence of Theodore R. Lee, president.

REMOVE BODY BENEATH EIFFEL TOWER

Indiana Youth Suspected of Theft

State police at Lake Katrine claimed Tuesday afternoon that Robert Donald Gardner, a 19-year-old Michigan City, Indiana, youth in jail here on a vagrancy charge, admitted the theft of food and a small quantity of cash from the Rainbow Inn on Albany avenue extension.

The youth reportedly also admitted being absent without leave from the U. S. Army for two months, state police said.

State police said the Rainbow Inn, located just outside the city limits of Kingston, was entered early Monday morning. They did not reveal the amounts of food or money allegedly taken.

Gardner was picked up by troopers Monday afternoon as he was hitch-hiking on Route 9W in the town of Oyster, authorities said. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Percy Bush on a vagrancy charge and was sentenced to 15 days in jail.

Under questioning, Gardner allegedly admitted the burglary. State police said the youth had on his person several automobile ignition keys, and further investigation is continuing.

At Tenpin Signing

Rosendale, Oct. 19.—Members of the Chalet Pioneer Women's Bowling League who attended the open meeting of the Kingston Women's Bowling Association Thursday evening to witness the signing of the contract designating Kingston as the scene of the 1950 State Tournament were Dolores Freese, Yolande Tenebini, Margo McCullough, Edie Blakely, Mabel Cudney, Betty Rask, June McCulloch and Helen Mollenhauer. With the state tournament taking place in Kingston the C.P.W.B.L. anticipates 100 per cent participation of its members in tournament play.

To Plan Party

Rosendale, Oct. 19.—The Tillson School Association will meet at the school Thursday, Oct. 20, at 8 p. m. Among other items of business, plans will be discussed for the annual community Halloween party. This is an important meeting and all members are requested to attend. New members will be welcomed.

Village Notes

Rosendale, Oct. 19.—J. G. White of Kingston has returned to duty as freight agent for the New York Central R. R. at Rosendale, after an extended absence.

Miss Lina Wicks of New York was a guest last week of her sister, Mrs. Henry Mollenhauer, of Sturgeon Pool Farm, Rosendale.

Mrs. Edward McCaffrey of Main street spent Thursday and Friday last week in New York as the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Kahn.

Miss Pearl DeForest of Tillson attended the county-wide Home Bureau meeting in Accord Thursday.

Members of the Mollenhauer Bros. Dairy team of the C.P.W.B.L. League received their new bowling shirts in time to don for league play Tuesday. These are attractively styled of dull gold gabardine with black lettering and further embellished with a reproduction of a handsomely designed cow.

Civil Service Exams

The U. S. Civil Service Commission today announced examinations for translator and for boiler Bremen to fill jobs located in various federal agencies in Washington, D. C., and vicinity. Applications for the translator examinations must be received in the Commission's Washington office not later than November 8. Further information and application forms may be obtained from the Commission's local secretary, William J. Bares, located at the main post office in Kingston.

October 9—Linda Pearl to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bartlett Austin, 57 Hunter street.

October 10—Charlene Rose to Mr. and Mrs. William George Moon, 87 Grant street.

October 11—Martin Fenlon, Jr., to Mr. and Mrs. Martin F. Lenihan, 9 Van Gansbeck street.

Cable Protects Pipes

New York (AP)—Electricity has stepped to the fore as a protector against frozen water pipes. A special type heating cable has been developed which either can be wrapped around the pipe or buried alongside it. Connected to a house lighting outlet, it holds the temperature in the vicinity of the pipe high enough to prevent freezing. Current consumption is low.

PLATTEKILL

Plattekill, Oct. 18—Miss Pilar Tafall, a native of Madrid, Spain, and a local resident for many years, has been appointed instructor in Spanish at the College of St. Elizabeth in New Jersey. Miss Tafall holds an A.B. degree from Hunter College, and a M.A. degree from the Department of Spanish in Columbia University in New York city.

Miss Elaine Kniffen of New Paltz, teacher in the Plattekill school, was appointed vice-president of the New Paltz State College Alumni Association at the recent election of officers. Many local people attended the concert and organ recital held Thursday evening in the Modena Methodist Church.

county union. The late Mary Brown of Plattekill, a former member of the Plattekill union, was honored in the memorial service. The successful presentation of the Darktown Minstrel Follies, Wednesday evening, Oct. 12, at Villa Nueva boosted the Plattekill Catholic Building Chapel Fund to satisfactory heights. Prior to the show $1,000 was lacking to complete the $10,000 goal. The minstrel was original in its composition, being the work of the director, Mrs. Albina Orlovsky, the interlocutor, Bob Sibrava, and the endmen, Ralph Grismer, Tom Daves, Frank Ruggerio, Fred Ferraiuolo, Onfred and Marion Orlovsky. The chorus of young women featured a fashion show, Mary Decker, Arlene and Joan Shen, Ann Lozanich, Joan Reuter, Joan Grismer, Kitty Turpack, Josephine Martino, Edwin Garzin, Ronnie Campbell and Marie Ferraiuolo. Other, entertaining features were solos and a mystery show. Rose Scaputo is on the ticket committee for the informal dance to be held Friday evening, Nov. 4, at the Wallkill Central High School. Damage estimated as exceeding $5,000 besides the loss of four cars and equipment, has been reported from the fire which destroyed the Plattekill Garage, south of Plattekill, recently. The origin of the fire was unknown. The Plattekill Fire Department with a crew of 30 men battled the flames and prevented other property damage.

As Pegler Sees It

fell short, conscription was adopted. It permits the Labor government, the British equivalent of Henry Wallace, Chester Bowles, Vito Marcantonio, Claude Pepper, Leon Henderson and David Dubinsky, to "direct" men and women into jobs which the minister of labor believes they should perform in the "national interest." Men between 18 and 30 and women between 18 and 40 are subject to this draft. Unmarried men and women and married men in special cases are liable to "transportation" from their homes to appropriate jobs in the national interest, which is a euphemism for the interest of the Labor Party. Thus far, the minister of labor says, the power to put citizens in jail for refusing to bail him out of his failure has been used sparingly. But the fact remains that the Marxian government now has the power to starve a citizen who refuses to comply. Therefore, as John T. Flynn points out, it is seldom necessary to invoke the power to send him to jail. And all this was done in the name of labor by the British union bosses aided by the bosses of American unions. ## Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

New York, Oct. 19 (AP)—Businessmen who were so gloomy when the 81st Congress was elected less than a year ago find today that on the whole its back was worse than its bite.

But as the first session moves to a winding, uncertain close, many businessmen find its record, at best, a mixed blessing. Many of the things they dislike most are put off until January. Businessmen were not united, either. Few were the measures before Congress that didn't find businessmen appearing on both sides of the issue.

Congress failed to fulfill businessmen's worst fears of a year ago. For example, Congress didn't repeal the Taft-Hartley Law, or increase taxes. And it sidetracked farm and social security extensions, all of which had bitter opponents in the business world. But most of these issues are likely to come up again in January.

House appropriations for foreign aid and both American and European rearmament made for less of a drop in exports and in factory and mill orders than businessmen had been braced for this year. However, these same appropriations mean continued high taxes. Some companies wonder whether their gains as suppliers equal their loss as taxpayers.

Most of Congress' acts tended to brake deflation or to promise future inflationary pressures. And their sum total—higher expenditures and lower tax collections—led the treasury to deficit financing, which many regard as the most inflationary item of all at the present time.

The public in general, however, appeared to lose interest in threats of future inflation, despite some warnings these were increasing, and to concentrate on signs that deflation was being held in check. Just who will gain and who will lose by individual measures—in dollars and cents, without questioning their political or moral benefits?

Most firms with goods to export feel that the Marshall Plan extension will help keep world trade moving. Everyone with taxes to pay will contribute his bit to the majority of those directly engaged in exporting and importing hope to gain by the extension.

tension of reciprocal trade agreements, but some domestic manufacturers see costly competition in their own particular fields. Most exporters deplore the need to continue export controls as an expensive nuisance.

The military budget, both domestic and foreign, will spread orders among many industries. Taxpayers will suffer but most of them believe it necessary.

Most farmers favor some farm price subsidy plan. Many businessmen and city dwellers fear that some of the plans put forward will be too heavy a drain on the treasury, and keep the cost of living unnecessarily high. The bill to build crop storage bins is mostly shrugged off as a necessary part of the existing parity law. Many businessmen think the international wheat agreement is unwelcome, but most wheat farmers seem to hope it will help.

The minimum wage hike will help purchasing power more than it hurts business. In the view of labor leaders, but many businessmen see it as inflationary and tending to hamstring some industries with extra costs.

Rent control continuation and housing programs may help tenants and lower income groups, but many landlords and real estate owners contend controls will hurt them financially and housing will milk the taxpayer.

Businessmen who wanted the Taft-Hartley Law kept are disappointed that Congress didn't add a ban on industry-wide bargaining. Labor, of course, bitterly demands the law's repeal.

Many merchants think they will gain in sales volume from the death of Regulation W, which curbed installment buying. Most businessmen think they profited by the sidetracking of the President's demands for inflation controls.

In the west smaller mining interests are disappointed that the mine subsidy bill wasn't passed, and some copper producers and western businessmen wanted the tariff restored, while copper fabricators in the east see a saving for them in its sidetracking, as reduction of their bill for any foreign copper they may need.

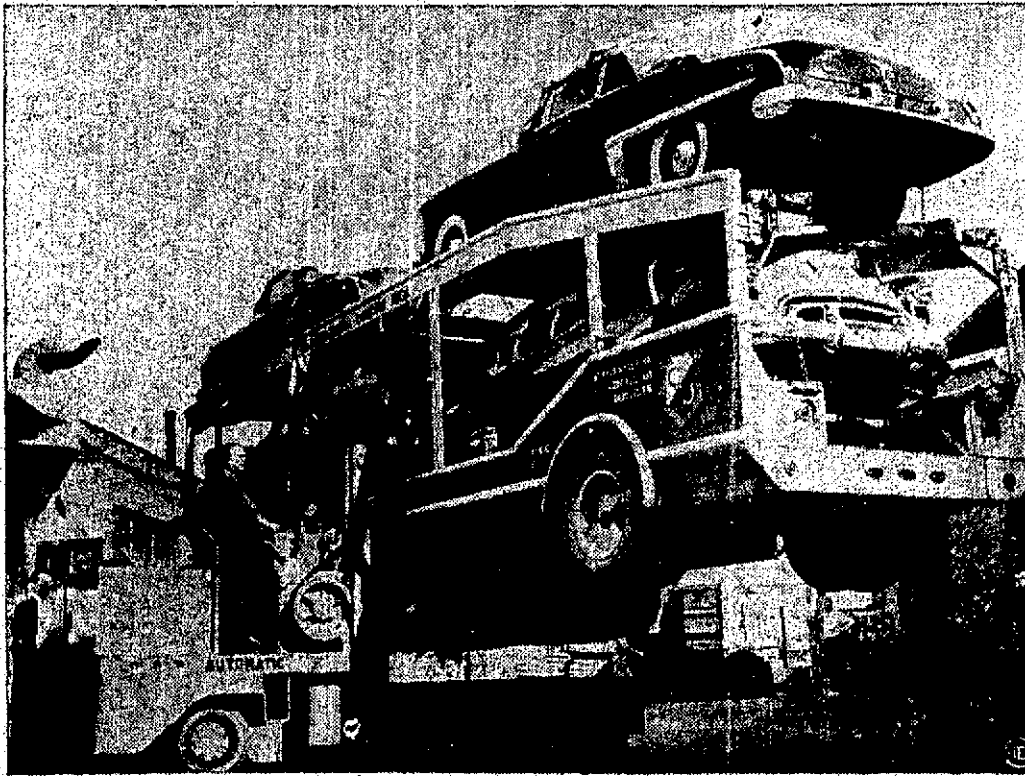

Slated to come up at the next session of Congress are other items on which business, labor and farmers divide. Point four, with its promise of financial and technical aid for underdeveloped areas, finds many persons more confused than anything else. Sharp division is shown over social security extensions, federal aid to schools, postal rate hike and the repeal of the oleomargarine tax.

And the old stand-bys—Taft-Hartley and taxes—may well come up again to start the worry-fest all over again.

MELTON COLLECTS OLD CARS

Westport, Conn., Oct. 19.—James Melton, radio and concert singer and a commuting resident of this town, spends all of his spare time at his hobby. It is the collection of old time automobiles, which has grown to such an extent that a special museum has been set up north of nearby Norwalk to display them to the public. Often Melton himself can be seen driving about the countryside in one of his revitalized high-wheeled touring cars of the vintage around 1912.

At a distance of 1,000 miles above the earth, the atmosphere may be too thin to transmit sound waves.

BIG LIFT FOR THE AUTO INDUSTRY—Barely flexing its steel sinews, this new lift truck raises a highway trailer with four autos aboard. Rated by its manufacturer as the world's most powerful industrial truck, the machine can handle loads up to 100,000 pounds. It will be used by General Motors in Lansing, Mich., to move huge automotive dies.

Resort Promoters Meet at Parkville

At the fourth annual meeting of the New York Winter Sports Council held at Parkville, E. M. Huben, executive director of Ulster-Greene Counties Vacationland, was elected first vice president of the Council as a representative of the Catskill mountain region.

Other officers elected were: Leo Westfall, Old Forge, N. Y., president; H. M. Grant, New York city, second vice president; H. L. Carron, Lake Placid, secretary; Rod Barlingham, Syracuse, treasurer.

In attendance at this annual meeting were hotel and resort operators, winter sports centers managers, transportation people and business men. The Council adopted a very energetic program for this year in an effort to increase the winter sports business throughout the State of New York.

Because of the opening of the State Development on Belle Ayre mountain at Pine Hill and the other winter sports centers in this area, the Catskill region will attain a new importance in the winter sports picture this year.

"I SHALL NOT WANT"—Bible-reading Mrs. Frances L. Worthington, 73, reportedly confessed to Berkeley, Calif., police that she is "one of the most accomplished pickpockets in the world." Her favorite Psalm, Mrs. Worthington said, goes, "The Lord is my Shepherd; I shall not want." She likes it because the words have come true for her so often during her 40 years as a pickpocket and shop-lifter. "People just keep throwing temptation my way," explained Mrs. Worthington. The judge sentenced her to 60 days in the Alameda County Jail.

UNION CENTER

Union Center, Oct. 19—A card party sponsored by the Ulster County Women's Republican Club will be held at the Town of Esopus Auditorium, Port Ewen, on Wednesday, Oct. 26, at 8:15 p. m. The public is cordially invited. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sassmann and children of Brooklyn spent the week-end with Mrs. A. Schnerring. Church services are held every Sunday at 7:30 p. m. with the Rev. Mr. Baines in charge. Sunday school is held every Sunday at 11 a. m. in the chapel.

Mrs. Charles Bach is spending a few weeks at Union City, N. J., visiting relatives.

Gets $700 Verdict

Tuesday afternoon, in Supreme Court, Frank Glennatasio was awarded a verdict of $700 against William Ross in a negligence action arising out of a car collision in southern Ulster. Raymond C. Bartle appeared for plaintiff and Arthur E. Ames appeared for the defendant. Plaintiff was awarded $350 for damage to his car and $350 for personal injuries. Next on the day calendar is a negligence action brought by William J. Moran, Jr., against The New York Telephone Company and another.

Street Is Repaved

Final work on the sewer conversion chamber on lower Broadway was completed this week and the street was being repaved to-day from Abel street to Ferry street. The public works department planned to open lower Broadway to all traffic tomorrow, if the weather and other factors remained favorable for completion of the paving work.

Pitching Horseshoes

By BILLY ROSE.

The other afternoon I was knocking around the picture galleries on 57th street, trying to dig up material for a magazine piece about art swindlers that I intend to call, "And They Hang Pictures."

In a shop off Fifth avenue run by an old thief I'm very fond of, I stopped to admire a portrait of a grinning Dutchman.

"If it were hanging at the Metropolitan Museum," I said, "I'd be inclined to think it was by Frans Hals."

"It's the last of five imitations," said the dealer, "and I'll let it go for fifty dollars, complete with frame. What's more, I'll throw in the story that goes with it."

"You've got yourself a deal," I said, "providing the yarn is worth half a C."

"This one isn't," said my friend, "but I'll tell it to you anyway."

Some years ago, a girl who worked for one of the galleries married a man who was old enough to be her father's father. What he lacked in youth, however, he more than made up for in the insurance.

For a while, it seemed like a good match. The old gent got what he had bargained for—companionship, and the girl got what she had never been able to achieve in the art business—security.

But as usually happens in such cases, the party of the third part put in an appearance. The fourth summer of their winty marriage the girl met an easy-talking artist who looked a lot better than he painted, and who had been doing right well for himself thanks to a series of monied and muse-struck imitations.

The artist soon discovered that his new girl friend's allowance was hardly enough for both of them, and so he concocted a swindle, or, rather, put a new coat of shine on an old one. Under his prompting, the girl took her husband on a Cook's tour of the art treasures of New York, and after he had gotten religion she suggested that he ought to buy a few fine pictures himself—he'd be amazed at the pleasure he'd get out of them.

"I've always liked pretty things," said the old man. "The girl moved in for the kill. 'I know an artist who owns several outstanding examples of the 17th Century Dutch school,' she said. 'I understand he's pressed for cash and, as you know, art is always a good investment.'"

The following day the old man met his wife's boy friend, and before the week was out he had purchased five freshly-painted phonies for $80,000. They were installed in his living room and for the next couple of years the old coat seemed to get a good deal of quiet pleasure looking at them.

When he finally died, his companionable wife was at his side. And a few days later the interested parties assembled in the living room to hear the reading of his last will and testament.

The first part of the document was given over to bequests to charities, loyal retainers and relatives, and the sums seemed remarkably large to the girl. However, she had never known the extent of her husband's wealth and she was quite sure there would be plenty left for her.

Finally the lawyer reached the clause for which she had been waiting:

"Now I come to my wife and faithful companion. As she sits listening to these words in the room where we spent so many hours together, I know she must be looking fondly at the fine paintings which grace its walls. I believe I know what she is thinking, and in honor of these thoughts I leave her my collection of Dutch masterpieces." (Copyright, 1949, by Billy Rose) (Distributed by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Max Hill Is Dead Of Heart Ailment; Covered Far East

Elkhart, Ind., Oct. 19 (AP)—The long newspaper and radio career of Max Hill, 45-year-old former Associated Press correspondent and news commentator, ended with his death Monday in a hotel room here.

The body of Hill, an executive with the Wade Advertising Agency at Chicago, was en route to Denver, Colo., today for burial there Friday.

Hill was found dead in his bed at the Elkhart Hotel Monday afternoon by hotel employees. Dr. B. F. Kintner, Elkhart county coroner, said Hill died of acute coronary occlusion, a circulatory ailment.

The former newsman, who was Associated Press chief of bureau at Tokyo when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941, was here on a business trip for the advertising firm.

Hill recently had been transferred to the Chicago office of the Wade Company from New York, where he joined the firm.

Hill, longtime city editor of the Denver Post, joined the Associated Press in 1934. He was chief of the New York bureau before his appointment in 1940 as bureau chief at Tokyo. After the Pearl Harbor attack he was interned by the Japanese until June 2, 1942.

He joined the National Broadcasting Company in 1943 and reported the war until 1945. He later served as a news commentator.

Hill, who was born in Colorado Springs, Colo., is survived by his widow, Mrs. Phoebe Hill, and a daughter, June, by a previous marriage.

Noted Engineer Dies

San Francisco, Oct. 19 (AP)—John W. Mercer, widely known as a mining engineer in this country and South America, died yesterday. He was 85. A native of Michigan, Mercer was director of the South American Mines Co., with headquarters in New York, and vice president of Kelowna Exploration Co., Ltd., of British Columbia. For 25 years he was an active operator of gold mines in Ecuador. Formerly of New York, Mercer lived in this area for 17 years. He is survived by his widow, Muriel D. Mercer; a daughter, Katherine Mercer Kirkham, Pleasantville, N. Y., and a brother, Harry P. Mercer, Painesdale, Mich.

Jewish Vets Convene

Miami Beach, Fla., Oct. 19 (AP)—The Jewish war veterans opened their 54th annual national encampment here today and about 4,000 expected to attend the four day convocation. Americanism will be the keynote of the convention. National Commander Myer Dorfman said in an interview prior to the opening. The J.W.V. is in favor of unification of the armed forces, he said, "but we are more interested in a civilian defense agency headed by a secretary of civilian defense with full cabinet status."

Almost everyone has heard the story of Edison and his lamp. Here was a man who would not recognize failure. Failure of an experiment to achieve a desired result was never discouraging to him. It meant only that he knew another combination that would not work. Thus, with every "failure" he gained new knowledge.

It was in this way that the first incandescent electric lamp was made. Gradually, step by step, he evolved the principles which were incorporated in the successful lamp: the all-glass hermetically sealed bulb; the high vacuum inside the bulb; the carbonized filament. He searched high and low for a durable material from which to produce the filament. More than 1600 tests of earths, minerals, and plants were made. Finally his quest ended at home in Mrs. Edison's sewing basket!

A bit of carbonized cotton thread, bent in horse-shoe form, was placed inside one of his sealed glass bulbs. Then, on the evening of October 19, 1879, this crude experimental lamp was connected to an electric circuit. It worked! Hour after hour for more than forty hours the cotton thread glowed! Electric light was born! Today is its 70th birthday.

Volumes have been written about Thomas Alva Edison's contributions to mankind, his remarkable physical and mental powers, his talent for research. In the 81 years of his life he gave the world more than 1150 inventions, many of which brought a greater measure of health, comfort, safety, and pleasure to all peoples. Every electric light, every phonograph, every motion picture, every electric train, every radio and television set is a memorial to his genius.

Wintry Weather Is Menu in Several Western Sections

(By The Associated Press)

Wintry weather—snow and sub-freezing temperatures spread over the western states today but it was mild and pleasant over most of the eastern half of the country. Snow fell over most of the Northern Rockies and southward through Utah. Montana got most of the autumn season's first heavy snowfall but the fall was general throughout Wyoming. Many Montana county roads were blocked by five-foot drifts. Falls in the state measured six inches.

Snow also was reported in Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Idaho and northern Arizona. There also was some snow in California. The snow was expected to hit western and northern Nebraska tonight but Federal Weather Bureau forecasters said none was in sight for other midwest areas.

Temperatures dropped sharply over the snow belt. Montana had the coldest spots—10 above at Butte, 13 at Cut Bank and 15 at Bozeman. The mercury was below freezing from western North Dakota southward to Nevada and westward to central Washington and Oregon.

The Southern California coast was hit by high winds last night and an inch and a half of snow fell on Holland Summit on the ridge route north of Los Angeles. Highway and air transportation was hampered by the strong winds and small boats and barges were driven ashore.

Some rain fell today along the mid-Atlantic coast and scattered showers and thunderstorms were reported from Minnesota southward to Kansas.

The mercury climbed into the 70's over the central states yesterday. The country's hottest weather was in Texas. The high was 90 at San Antonio.

Council of Parks After Iona, Sampson Areas

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP)—The State Council of Parks, meeting at Freedom Plains near here Monday, announced that negotiations were under way to acquire two wartime navy installations as park areas.

A. K. Morgan, chief engineer of Palisades Interstate Park Commission, said the council had made an offer to the navy for Iona Island, a Hudson river island near West Point.

If acquired, he said, the Iona property would be placed under jurisdiction of the Palisades commission.

The council also empowered its finance committee to negotiate for the wartime naval training station at Sampson.

State Park Commissioner Robert Moses, however, cautioned the council to use "extreme care" in taking over a property of the size of Sampson.

Carl Crandell, secretary-engineer of the Finger Lakes State Park Commission, said there was a shortage of public parks in the Sampson area.

2,000 Delegates Will Attend G.L.F. Parley

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 19—Farmers from 415 communities in New York state will be represented by some 2,000 delegates to the 29th annual stockholders meeting of the Cooperative Grange League Federation Exchange in Syracuse Oct. 27-28.

Highlights of the session will be the annual reports of G.L.F. President Frank M. Smith, Springfield, Center, and General Manager J. A. McConnell, Ithaca. Also scheduled is the election of directors for two-year terms from five of the 10 districts into which G.L.F. territory is divided to provide widespread representation of some 100,000 farm families in New York, New Jersey and northern Pennsylvania.

At the District 5 meeting in East Cobleskill, committeemen from 59 eastern New York communities renominated M. C. Albright, Athens fruits and dairy farmer.

In addition, Frank M. Smith was renominated as director representing the New York State Farm Bureau Federation, and J.

C. Corwith, Water Mill, was renominated as director representing the New York State Grange.

Firemen Are Called

Firemen were called at 4:34 p. m. Tuesday to check the source of smoke on the third floor of a building at 11 Wurts street and found it came from a stopped up chimney on a lower floor. They were called again at 4:28 a. m. today to quench a blaze on the Sterling street dump.

"We've gained comfort and independence

with the income from dividend-paying stocks I bought in my wage-earning years"

Samuel G. Johnson
THOMASTON, CONN.

"I landed in this country in 1900, at the age of 17, with nothing but the clothes on my back. I've worked ever since, until my retirement, at my trade of iron worker."

"Back a good many years ago," Mr. Johnson says, "my wife and I started looking ahead to the day when I could stop work and still have a comfortable income. We decided that could be done if I put part of my wages into securities of companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange that would then be working for us."

"The result is that today we have many different investments (all my own selections, and most of them common stocks) and we get our entire income from them... about 7.5% on the money we have invested."

Facts for the thrifty

The facilities of Member Firms of the New York Stock Exchange are available to help make informed investing today a convenient, simple procedure... and also to help you appraise not only the possibilities of reward but the risk that attends ownership of common stocks—a risk inherent in ownership of any form of property.

The names of companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange are known nationally; hundreds of them have paid dividends annually without exception for over 50 years, many for 60 years and more. The average yield of all dividend-paying common stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange computed for each year since 1940 provides food for thought for everyone with surplus funds.

To Select 5 Guardsmen For West Point Academy

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP)—Five New York National Guardsmen will be selected for West Point tryouts on the basis of preliminary examinations to be held Nov. 4 and 5 in New York City, Albany and Buffalo.

The dates were announced by National Guard Headquarters last night.

Governor Dewey will choose the five candidates from among those who pass the preliminary test. They will be qualified to take the regular entrance examinations for the U. S. Military Academy March 7.

The examinations will be held at the 71st Infantry Armory, New York City; the Washington Avenue Armory, Albany; and the 174 Infantry Armory, Buffalo.

It was not unusual for a person to drink 40 to 50 cups of tea daily during the 17th century.

McKenney on Bridge

Good Observation Insured Contract

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

Today's hand was sent to me by Robert H. Jamison of Miami, Fla. Mr. Jamison wrote that every player at some time runs across what he considers the most interesting hand in bridge, and his time came when he and his partner optimistically arrived at a six no trump contract on this hand. I will say this for Mr. Jamison—his careful observation of the drop of the cards made it possible for him to make the contract.

When the dummy went down, he thought that the only chance he had was to find the queen of spades in the East hand. If that worked, he could make three spade tricks, four hearts (if the hearts broke), four diamonds and the king of clubs.

He won the first trick with the king of clubs and then ran his four diamond tricks. On the fourth diamond West let go the three of hearts. East discarded a heart and a club. Mr. Jamison then proceeded to run his four heart tricks, discarding his deuce of clubs on the fourth heart. East carefully clung to his spades, trying to deceive declarer into thinking that he held the spade suit. West discarded first the eight of clubs and then the jack of clubs.

Declarer now decided that West was trying to protect the queen of spades, so at this point he led a club, which West was forced to win with the ace. Then he had to lead a spade into declarer's king-jack and small. It did not matter to Mr. Jamison who held the queen of spades now.

East argued that his partner should have discarded the nine of spades instead of the jack of clubs. However, Mr. Jamison claimed that unless West had made the nine of spades discard on the fourth diamond, he would have read what he was trying to do, and would have cashed the ace and king of spades, dropping the queen.

Paris, Oct. 19 (AP)—The body of Patricia Hunter, the Port Chester, N. Y., art student who plunged to her death from the Eiffel Tower yesterday, will be flown to New York this week-end, the U. S. Embassy said today. The embassy said this was requested in a cable signed by Alexander Hunter of (335 Academy Avenue) Sewickley, Pa. Hunter was described as the girl's uncle. The embassy said the body probably will leave Paris Sunday for New York. The girl's mother is Mrs. Joseph F. Hunter of Rye.

Wrestling Show Brings In $111.75 For Sheehan Fund

The benefit wrestling show at the municipal auditorium raised $111.75 for the Harold Sheehan building fund.

This amount was reported by Joe Kelly of The Freeman who acted as chairman of the event to raise money to help defray expenses for the disabled veteran's home.

Promoter William Johnston, Jr., of New York gave 30 per cent of all tickets sold up to noon yesterday to the fund. The "take" amounted to $51.75, Kelly said.

The committee selling advance tickets took in $172.50 to make the $51.75 for the fund.

In addition to the money turned over by Johnston were these contributions to make the $111.75: Bruno Preso, Schenectady, the New York State Athletic Commission, $25; Joe Kelly, chairman of the wrestling show $25; Dick McCarthy, Kingston, announcer, $5.

Argon and Kelly are both members of the 40 & 8, American Legion honor society, to which Sheehan belongs.

Sheehan who enjoyed the show from his wheelchair expressed deep appreciation to those who helped with the promotion.

Leading the list for tickets sold was Fred Kasterick, once the Frisco Kid of pro wrestling ranks himself, and Ray Cord, both employed at Electrol Incorporated. Others on the roster of ticket handlers were Dan Ferlmutter, Colonial centerfielder last summer, and Alexander "Pop" Fuhrman of the Kingston Boys Club.

The judge further said of the famous captain of the Mary Powell: "He was careful and exact in his dealings with his fellows. He kept his word. He had a modest and civil nature, a profound contempt for meanness and oppression. He was admired and beloved beyond the circle of his home, and could I but read to you the upwards of 400 letters which have been written by those who knew him well, you would better realize than I can tell, the regard in which he was held abroad." Ending with: "Enduring men in Kingston are falling like autumn leaves, the places held by those who have gone cannot easily be filled."

Looking in Clearwater's book I see Captain Absalom Ellings Anderson was born in Saugerties, N. Y., Jan. 11, 1856. At age of 14, years his family moved to Esopus. Among the notable vessels he owned and commanded were the Robert L. Stephan, the Thomas Powell, and the Mary Powell, which he ran for about a quarter of a century.

Received several pieces of mail on the West Point chain mentioned in this column. A card from Marie K. Bartley, who says "Judson Haynes has some interesting facts on the chain and to contact him." Will, first chance I have, Mrs. A. R. Leverich enclosed letter from Lt. Col. W. J. Morton, librarian of U. S. Military Academy at West Point, which will quote in future column besides other material Mrs. Leverich is trying to obtain on this famous chain. Also have been loaned "Kingston Daily Leader" of August 21, 1884 by one of my friends from the city hall and a 1915 edition. Mr. H. D. Greene of Norfolk, Va., sent a photo of an eight-horse team, 8 wheel wagon on which is his father, Levi Greene and "Chet" Roe with the largest slab of bluestone mined here. Will give more details on the above.

Nun Will Receive Special Gold Medal

Copenhagen, Oct. 18 (AP)—For the first time in its history, the Carnegie Foundation will award a special gold medal instead of its usual rewards for heroism.

The gold medal has been made to honor a Danish nun, who is not permitted to accept gifts of money.

In March 1945 the nun, 45-year-old Sister Edith, saved the lives of 75 children trapped under the burning and flooded ruins of a Catholic school in Copenhagen.

The school was bombed by mistake by the British Royal Air Force during an otherwise successful attack on the "shell house," the Gestapo headquarters in Denmark. Eleven nuns and 97 children were killed.

The catastrophe took place when the leading Mosquito bomber in the second attack wave was hit by anti-aircraft fire and crashed on the roof of the school. The following planes mistook the scene of the disaster for the target and let go their bomb loads on top of the leader's plane.

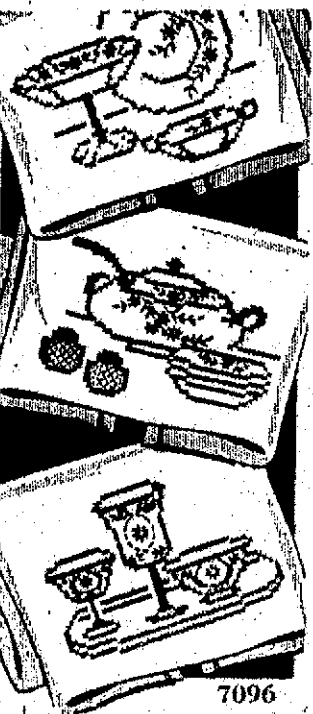

All the children in the school were taken to the basement immediately after the first explosion. As soon as the next planes let go their bombs, Sister Edith realized the children would be killed if they remained in the basement.

Although seriously injured, she succeeded in bringing 75 out into the street before the last staircase was blocked by the collapsing building. The children who remained were killed either by the falling walls or the fire, or were drowned when a broken water main flooded the basement.

Since the rules of the St. Joseph order to which Sister Edith belongs do not permit her to accept a cash award, the Danish crown, which vary from 200 to 1,200 (Danish crowns), the foundation will present the Order of St. Joseph with a special gold medal in her honor.

The medal will be presented at a ceremony attended by the Danish minister of the interior, the foreign secretary and a representative from the American embassy in Copenhagen.

MODENA NEWS

Modena, Oct. 18—Mrs. Harry Roosa has sold her fruit and dairy farm south of Modena to Albert Moran, who will take possession immediately. Mr. and Mrs. Roosa and daughter Joan Hartney will remain in the farm house until April 1, when they will move in Mrs. Roosa's bungalow now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. William Decker and family. Mr. Decker will be employed by Mr. Moran until April 1. The farm has been in the possession of the Hartney family for nearly 30 years, the late William Hartney purchasing the property from the late Luther Terwilliger. Prior to the purchasing of the farm by Mr. Hartney, he conducted a grocery store in Plattville, which was later acquired by Mr. Terwilliger.

The successful conclusion of the concert and organ recital held Thursday evening in the Modena Methodist Church was evidenced by the full house in attendance. A satisfactory offering was realized to be used to defray the expense incurred by the purchase of the new Hammond spinet organ recently installed in the church. Miss Mary Carroll, student nurse at St. Joseph's Hospital in New Jersey, visited her sister, Mrs. Milton Van Duser and family at Sylvia and friends and relatives in Modena last week-end.

Mrs. Raymond Bonura and son Raymond, Jr., of Fostertown were visitors of Mrs. Harry Roosa on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Davis and grandsons, Roy and Douglas Terwilliger of Centerville, visited Mrs. A. D. Wager and daughter on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Coy of Pine Plains were overnight guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Falkridge on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blum and children, Brenda and Harry Jr., of Kew Gardens, L. I., visited Mr. and Mrs. William Fowler last week-end.

Mrs. Nelson Hedges entertained the members of the New Hurley Missionary Society at her home on Thursday afternoon of the past week. "Growing in Grace" was chosen theme of the worship service, and the meeting stressed the Holy Spirit, which was also used for the Bible word for roll call response. Mrs. Wilbur J. VanWyck presented the "Advance" of the Woman's Board of Domestic Missions. A special offering was taken replacing the summer offering.

Phyllis Winters, Kathryn Kalamucki, and Philip Rappelyea are members of the Junior-Rising committee of the Walkkill Central School's Junior class. The school's news club appointed Phyllis Pittbridge as assistant business manager.

Mrs. Lillian Harcourt of the Ardona road was appointed lecturer of Clintondale Grange at a recent election of officers. Barbara Harcourt was appointed flag-bearer, Eber Palmer Jr., steward, Mrs. Edith Ackhart, one of the three graces.

Elementary School News

School 7 News
A movie on safety from the "Our Gang Comedy" series highlighted the assembly program last week. Not only was the picture entertaining from a humorous point of view but it also impressed all who saw it with the need of looking both ways before crossing a street as well as the danger of using the streets as playgrounds.

After seeing the picture Miss Israel's third grade class formed a 1-2-3 Go-Stop Club. The purpose of the club is to remind its members to cross streets carefully and only at crosswalks. On reaching a crosswalk each member of the club stops, counts one, looks left, counts two, looks right, counts three, looks left then right and says "Go" or "Stop" as the traffic warrants.

The members of the club became so enthusiastic that they invited Miss Brown's third grade class to go with them to practice their new method for crossing streets. On their way to a previously chosen street corner they enlisted the aid of one of the local policemen who also instructed them in several other safety rules.

If any of our local storekeepers have been wondering why there has been a sudden increase in the sale of a certain brand of soap they may find their answer in a campaign now underway in the school. The pupils of the school are collecting soap wrappers of this brand of soap. So far they have collected over 160 wrappers and in return the soap company will send 80 cakes of soap under the auspices of CARE to the needy children of Europe. The collection will continue through the month of October and it is hoped that enough wrappers will be collected to send over 200 cakes of soap.

On Thursday of this week the kindergarten, first, second and third grades had visitors from New Paltz State Teachers College. The visitors, under the guidance of Miss Hahn, Professor of Childhood Education, spent about two hours of observation of primary methods of education and child guidance used in our school.

Other items of interest to the pupils this week were a trip to Mr. Beatty's Farm by the pupils of Miss Salzman's room and a movie "Who's Zoo" shown to the children in Mrs. Sitzer's kindergarten class. Both the trip and the movie are an integral part of the modern methods of education in that first hand or near first hand experiences are provided the pupils.

DePaur's Infantry Chorus Presents Ensemble Singing at Its Best in Community Concert

Leonard dePaur's Infantry Chorus of 35 Negro men received round after round of applause in a great ovation at Kingston High School Tuesday night as the most perfect vocal ensemble to appear in Kingston in years and years. This concert sponsored by the Kingston Community Concert Association was not only ensemble singing at its best but was studied with star soloists.

The chorus began with a few men, singing for enjoyment within the 372nd Infantry Regiment at Fort Dix, N. J., in 1942, and has grown to top place in concert ensemble attractions in America today.

Leonard dePaur who was rising to fame as a conductor at the outbreak of the war, enlisted as a private. Because of his ability he was selected to direct the military for Winged Victory and later was placed at the head of the 372nd Infantry group to develop a chorus for soldier entertainment. The group gave more than 2,000 concerts for American armed forces visiting every theatre of war and is now on its third year of civilian concert tours.

Currently the chorus is on a tour of 40 states with 175 dates scheduled. They will return to this area for a concert at New Paltz State Teachers College, Thursday, December 15.

In addition to the concert work, the chorus has recorded two albums of songs and is working on the third, an album of Negro spirituals and work songs.

DePaur's every whim and motion was translated into remarkable musical effects by the chorus in an overall absolute coordination. The pitch, tone building in soft whispers or loud peals, innate sense of rhythm even in the difficult rhythmic patterns for some of the songs, and the quality of the voices, these points alone, made the chorus. Add enunciation, ability to sustain tones, expression and dynamics used to accent the important words in a piece, and one can just begin to realize all the commendable points of dePaur's ensemble. Throughout the program, the ensemble soloists and conductor maintained a sincere humbleness in acknowledging the applause.

Many numbers on the program were arranged for the chorus by the conductor. The group of folk songs from Latin America was one of the outstanding portions of the concert. The Spanish rhythms in the voice accompaniments to the soloists were exciting and differed with each type of song, one from Mexico, one from Argentina, a mourning song of the West Indies and the humorous Ugly Woman, a "calypso" from Trinidad.

Also popular were the songs from World War 2: the English R.A.F. marching song, I've Got Sixpence; Song of the French Partisan, done completely in soft whispers to relate the secret life of the gallant underground Maquis and using full voice only to accent the fears of the Partisan. The Chinese contribution was the famous marching song entitled Chi Lai, the Russian army cavalryman's song was sung in a conservative manner although none of the verse was lost. The group was concluded with the great American ballad from the war, Roger Young.

Soloists in these and other numbers on the program showed the excellence and variety of vocal timbre to be found in the chorus. The solo voices were projected even over the full chorus with complete clarity and beauty of tone.

Four modern compositions were used to open the concert and immediately expressed the great styling of the chorus. From the start the audience knew the appearance was an important event for the concert calendar.

The modern harmonies were struck clear and true by the voices. Several familiar spirituals were sung plus two contemporary work songs: "My Cap'n and Jerry" (Lord, dis timber gotta roll) which again brought forth the rhythmic skill of the ensemble.

The final group of songs were sincere and humble renditions of four faith songs: "O Bone Jesu" by Palestrina, sung in traditional Latin; "Eli Eli, the great Hebrew invocation; Hosanna Hosanna, liturgical chant from the Orthodox Russian Church; and the dePaur arrangement of the Lord's Prayer by Malotte.

For encores the chorus sang another Russian church hymn, "Bless the Lord O My Soul by Ippolitov-Ivanov; and the Air Corps version of the Whiffenpoof Song, made famous in the stage show and screen, version of Winged Victory in which the music was directed by dePaur.

The next Kingston Community Concert will be Wednesday night, January 18, when the Indianapolis Symphony under the direction of Fabien Savitsky, will be presented. Mrs. Benjamin Johnston is in charge of memberships.

Porto-Marnell Wedding Takes Place In St. Joseph's Church

Nuptials for Miss Jacqueline Marnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marnell, 56 Marlina avenue, and Thomas J. Porto, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Porto, Glasco, were solemnized Sunday at 2:30 p. m. in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Stephen P. Connelly, pastor.

The church was decorated with white pompons and ferns. Mrs. Frank Rafferty was organist and played traditional wedding music. Anthony Bonacci sang Panis Angelicus and Ave Maria.

The bride was escorted by her father. She wore a traditional white satin gown with French imported Chantilly lace trimming and skirt in rumba style with ruffles of the lace terminating in a long train. A tiara of seed pearls caught her lace-trimmed fingertip veil. She carried white pompons arranged with an orchid center.

Miss Margaret Porto, sister of the bridegroom, maid of honor, wore an American beauty tulle gown with matching millis and bonnet trimmed with light pink ostrich plumes. She carried a heart-shaped bouquet of pink pompons. Miss Rose Ann Glimmaro, niece of the bridegroom, was the flower girl. She wore a pink tulle gown with matching headpiece and carried a basket of fuchsia pompons.

Serving as best man for the bridegroom was his brother, John Porto of Glasco. Ushers were Mickey Glimmaro, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Robert Marnell, brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for 300 guests from Poughkeepsie, Sidney, Catskill, Monroe, Glasco and Kingston. After the reception the newlyweds left for a trip to Niagara Falls and Canada. She wore a wine suit with grey accessories and an orchid corsage. They will make their home in Kingston.

SHE WAS TACTLESS

A wife writes: "Recently I invited a business associate of my husband's, his wife and their young daughter to dinner. Saying grace is not a custom in our house and I was very embarrassed when the wife (after the food was served) asked if she might say it. Of course I readily agreed but I do not think she should have done this. What do you think?"

I think it was very tactless on her part, and that she might have said it silently to herself.

Leave Sick Parent Or

Dear Mrs. Post: What names or name should appear on a wedding invitation under the following circumstances? One parent of the bride is a patient in a hospital for the mentally ill. The condition is incurable and the parent has been out of the house for many years. Should the name of both parents appear on the invitation or only the name of the parent at home?

Answer: I think it would be best for all concerned to omit the name unless the other members of the family of the parent would like you to do otherwise.

Paying Calls

Dear Mrs. Post: We have just moved into a new house in a new development and I would like to know what is expected of us in regard to calls. Most of the people who live here are "new" to the community—having moved here shortly before we did. Under the circumstances, do we still have to wait for the older residents to call on us? and (2) do I call on any neighbors that move in after we do?

Answer: (1) No. (2) Yes.

Concerning the Sick Parent

Dear Mrs. Post: We received steak knives with rosewood handles and serrated edges as a wedding present. Is it acceptable to use these with my sterling silver flatware?

Answer: These two styles would be as unbecoming to each other as golf shoes worn with a ball dress. Both of these can be perfect but not together. On second thought, if you enamel-painted the handles of the knives with forks (to match) all of the color of extra-sized meat plates and brought them to the table with the potatoes, they might be very pleasing.

The annual meeting of the Ulster Garden Club was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jay LeFevre in New Paltz. Reports for the club year were given and officers for the coming year named.

Mrs. G. V. D. Hutton was re-elected president. Mrs. Howard A. Lewis was elected first vice president; Mrs. Harold King, second vice president; Mrs. Richard Thibault of Woodstock, third vice president; Mrs. John Matthews, treasurer; and Mrs. William Hasbrouck of Stone Ridge, secretary. Mrs. William A. Warren and Mrs. John D. Schoenmaker, Jr., were named to the board of gardeners.

The club plans to continue with the project of planting and landscaping the grounds of the Senate House and programs for the next season were discussed.

The next meeting of the club will be November 15 at the home of Mrs. Robert E. Rodie, 83 Albany avenue. Peter Van Melle of Poughkeepsie, will be the guest speaker.

State Building Code Commission Set To Cut Home Costs

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP)—Governor Dewey today appointed five members of the new state Building Code Commission and termed its work a "trail blazing effort" to reduce housing costs in the state.

The controversial state-wide building code law, which created the commission, was passed by the Republican-controlled, 1945 legislature over opposition that crossed party lines.

Dewey appointed Col. Edward J. McGraw, Jr., of New York city to a 10-year term as the $15,000-a-year chairman. McGraw, 46, is a former public works commissioner of New York city.

Other members, each of whom will receive $12,500 annually, are: George B. Cummings of Binghamton, president of the architectural examiners of the State Board of Examiners and a director of the State Association of Architects. He was named to a four-year term.

Walker S. Lee of Rochester, superintendent of the Rochester Bureau of Buildings. His term will run eight years.

Ralph A. Leht of Buffalo, county attorney for Erie county. He was appointed for a six-year term.

William Lescaze, of New York city, vice president of the State Association of Architects. His term will run two years.

In a statement, Dewey said that the "creation of a building code commission to devise new standards of construction in New York state, is one of the most important steps forward in this century."

The building code bill, one of the major proposals of the Dewey administration's 1949 legislative program, ran into concerted opposition in the Legislature. It was opposed by the State Conference of Mayors.

The measure created a commission to formulate uniform state-wide building regulations for municipalities having local building codes.

The regulations may be rejected by any municipality, however.

Under the law's provisions, the state code to be written by the commission will serve as an alternative to building codes used by municipalities that already have their own regulations. A builder will be free to follow either set of regulations.

A total of 175 cities, towns and villages now have their own codes.

The new law has no effect upon municipalities which have no building regulations.

"In accepting responsibility for directing the Seal Sale in their communities, these women are performing a valuable service to all the people of their community for they are helping, in a very direct way, the fight against tuberculosis in this area," Chairman Rochford said.

In explaining the wide-scope program of the Tuberculosis Association, Chairman Rochford stated "during the past year the tuberculosis association has been carrying on a progressive program of tuberculosis prevention and control through such services to community residents as assistance with up-to-date information to the citizens in the prevention of tuberculosis and general diseases through talks, films, exhibits and pamphlets. The association also has recently added an active mental health program.

His vessel was reported missing Monday and search units were alerted immediately.

On their way to the future reservoir, the students will make several stops to inspect other parts of New York city's far-flung water system. The first will be at the Merriman Dam, at Lackawanna, one link in the new Delaware water system. The second will be the Ashokan Reservoir, which has been sending Catskill water to the city faucets at the rate of over 500,000,000 gallons daily, since 1912. # Larry Estep, The Hillbilly, Tosses Ivan Kameronoff in Wrestling Feature

Arkansas Vet In Colorful Show for Fans

Elmer "Pappy" Estep, 405 pounds of Arkansas hillbilly complete with all the accessories—blue jeans, red underwear, long black beard and bare feet—tossed Ivan Kameronoff, 225, of New York, in 21 minutes, 16 seconds of the wrestling headliner at the municipal auditorium.

Following the card, Promoter Bill Johnston of New York announced that future shows would be held every second Tuesday, starting on Nov. 1.

To Star Savoldi

Jumping Joe Savoldi, an all-time Notre Dame football great, will be featured in the main event.

The victory of the 50-year old hillbilly, who is something of an intellectual out of the ring, was one of virtue over sin—an old wrestling theme. It was a slashing, colorful affair all the way.

Kameronoff tickled Estep's feet, pulled his long beard and hair, sat on his round belly, tossed him around with abandon and occasionally bounced off Elmer in football style. One of these flying tackle attempts missed five and Kameronoff suddenly found himself pinned to the mat.

Karas In Thriller

Steve Karas, the Detroit sellers expert, and Harry "Bad Man" Finkelstein, of Boston, staged a rousing 30-minute draw in which they literally threw the book at each other.

Due to a last minute injury to Abe Coleman, New York veteran, Fred Catone, 222, the Columbus, Ohio roughneck, appeared in two bouts.

In the opener, Carone flattened Army Tompkins, 240, of Long Branch, N. J., formerly of the New York Giants pro football team, in 17:30 with a body slam.

Mike Kolonis, 215, Syracuse, flopped Carone in 16:42 of the semi-final event, a roughhouse affair that matched for Karas-Finkelstein imbroglio for dirty tactics.

Senators Sign Bucky Harris

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—President Clark Griffith announced today Bucky Harris has been signed to manage the Washington Senators baseball team for the next three years.

Harris will succeed Joe Kuhel who was fired on Oct. 3. Under Kuhel the hapless Senators finished in 8th place in the American League, 47 games behind the world champion Yankees.

The terms of the contract were not announced. However, there were reports Harris will receive about $25,000 a year.

This is the third time Harris has served as pilot of the Senators. He led them to pennants in 1924 and 1925 and returned as manager from 1935 to 1942.

Harris, who will be 53 years old next month, managed San Diego of the West Coast League this season. He guided the Padres into the final round of the coast league playoffs, losing to Hollywood in a six-game series.

Harris broke into the major leagues as a second baseman with the Senators in 1919 and five years later, at the age of 27, he became a playing manager.

Coach Willard Burke missed Tuesday's football drill, and was not expected to report for today's workout of the Kingston High School football squad because of a heavy cold. It was announced at the high school this morning.

Unfortunately for Newburgh Free Academy, however, the Maroon varsity squad was reported sharp and ready for the "big game" Saturday in the Hill City.

Seek Star For Boxing

It was announced today by David "Doodie" Popick, co-chairman of B'nai B'rith boxing committee, that he is angling for a big surprise match for Thursday, Oct. 27.

While Bill Singer, the chairman is away attending a realtor's convention, Popick is endeavoring to procure two champions for the main event, two boys with glittering reputations as amateur campaigners.

If Popick is successful, when Singer returns he'll find this main bout all arranged for the auditorium card.

Tony Bell, 160, Boston, New England States middleweight champion vs. Bruce Rohrbach, 163, Harrisburg, Pa., undefeated in two years of competition, having had 40 bouts.

Gun Club Warns Of Game Laws

Officials of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club last night warned its members and the general public that strict rules in regard to hunting on the club's preserves must be observed.

Hunting will be prohibited on the grounds during the open pheasant season—October 21-28—and anyone taking birds during this period will be subject to arrest by game wardens of the State Conservation Department.

Anyone taking birds not properly tagged is subject to arrest at anytime it was pointed out.

The first day for pheasant shooting at the preserve will be Sunday, Oct. 30, starting at 8 a. m. All birds taken that day must be tagged before leaving the Katrine preserve. Failure to comply with this rule makes the hunter liable to arrest.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

A Great Day Comin'

A tremendous football secret was uncovered in Port Jervis last Friday, we learned upon returning to the sports desk after a two weeks sojourn in the hinterlands. Newburgh Free Academy has a fair to middling football squad. The kind of team that might easily and forcibly after Kingston High's DUSO pennant designs for 1949.

N.F.A.'s decisive 37-0 victory over Port Jervis, the tattered sleeve member of the 1949 DUSO family, burst like a bombshell on victory fanished Hill City partisans and the league in general. It was great news everywhere except in Kingston where Coach Bill Burke and this corner yawned politely and then blurted "so what!"

That N.F.A. was a superior product to "Bo" Gill's dice early season predictions was no surprise to the Fox of Burke Hill. He knew that the Academy figured to have a good squad along with Middletown. Port Jervis had suffered too heavily by graduation to figure as a pennant contender.

N.F.A. the Favorite, Why Not?

At the moment, Master Gill, who divides his time between thinking up snide remarks about K.H.S. athletic teams and roaming over endless golf courses in pursuit of the elusive 90, must find himself in a rather embarrassing and unhappy predicament. In all fairness to the N.F.A. grid machine, which he has described as a "football Frankenstein," he must install them as solid favorites over Kingston High in the early season "crucial."

"Bo," an amateur psychologist of some note, would rather take a dose of castor oil. We think it's a strictly even money proposition, take your pick. It should be a savage duel between Kingston's massive line and the fleet Newburgh backs. Meanwhile, a couple of young men who answer to the names of Harvey Keyes and Ronnie Scheffel may have something to say about the ultimate result. Keyes has developed into the most feared climax runner in Hudson valley scholastic circles, while Scheffel baited from basketball stardom to football greatness without breaking stride.

Pretty Hot on Paper:

Newburgh's statistical accomplishments against Port Jervis were awesome to say the least and overshadowed earlier Kingston efforts by a wide margin. Four times they shook ball carriers loose for TD gallops of 84, 80, 41 and 65 yards, a mere average of 67 yards plus. Even Frank Leahy would settle for that kind of stuff at Notre Dame.

Furthermore, the four N.F.A. touchdowns were carted over by four different players. Emanuel Vigliotti, who was coming along fast at the end of the 1948 campaign, scooted 84 yards. Dominick Galage (never heard of him before) dashed 41; Dick Ransini went 65 yards and Dan Torelli sprinted for 80. One more long run and we would be forced to install N.F.A. as a two-touchdown choice. But for the time being we'll adhere to our even-Stephen prediction.

It Seems They Are Vulnerable:

One item in the statistical summary might tend to encourage Maroon followers. Although it absorbed fearful punishment, the Red and Black was able to pick up 16 first downs and 217 yards from scrimmage and 69 yards in aerials. The Academicians obviously are not defensive demons. Against Kingston in their 34-7 setback, Port Jervis was able to gain only eight first downs and 88 yards in frontal attacks, 56 more by passing.

If Newburgh has a potent air arm, it was kept under cover against Port Jervis. The Goldbacks attempted only five passes and failed to make a completion. Just a coincidence, perhaps.

A Boulder Hurts, From Any Height:

That Mr. Gill has been overwhelmingly impressed by N.F.A.'s potentialities was evident in his lead paragraph in the story that described the pigskin massacre in Port Jervis. He said that Newburgh crushed Port "like a boulder rolling from the top of Pike's Peak." It seems that he went a long way for his simile when Beacon mountain was so near.

Back in 1930, Prof. Thayer Culver once told a K.H.S. physics class that if a boulder were dropped on a football team from even table height, it might reasonably be expected that serious damage would occur. Now consider the height of Pike's Peak and you realize the terrible impact of a headon collision with N.F.A.

We repeat: It's even-money, take your pick. We pick K.H.S.

Record Million Hunters Are Ready For Small Game Season Opening

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP)—The seasons for small game and duck open Friday in most of New York state and the Conservation Department predicts a record 1,000,000 hunters will take to the fields in the next three months.

The department says also that the game crop is the most abundant in recent years.

The season will be lifted Friday, with exceptions in certain areas, on pheasants, woodcock, grouse, ducks, geese, cool, rails, gallinules, cottontail rabbits and squirrels.

For the first time since 1936, trappers will be permitted to take fisher, valuable fur-bearing animals often called black cats. The season runs from Oct. 25 to Nov. 25 and coincides with the season for otter.

Limited on Fisher

Fisher trapping is limited to the eight Adirondack counties of Clinton, Essex, Franklin, Herkimer, and Warren. The bag limit is three fishers. Other trapping is limited to the northern zone, bounded by the main railroad tracks from Oswego through Syracuse and Albany to the Massachusetts line. There is no limit on otter.

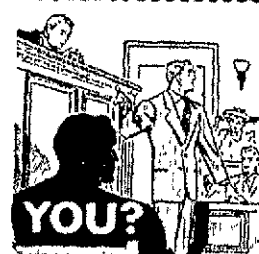

The grouse and woodcock seasons opened in the northern zone Oct. 10. Other exceptions to the Friday opening for upland game are:

On Long Island, the season on pheasants, grouse, cottontail rabbits and squirrels opens Nov. 1 in Rockland county. The rabbit season runs from Nov. 15 through Jan. 15.

Closing dates vary.

Game may be taken beginning at 9 a. m. on opening day and at 7 a. m. on other days. The daily closing is 5 p. m.

Ducks and geese may be taken at 12 noon on opening days and beginning at a half hour before sunrise thereafter, or around 6 a. m. The daily closing for ducks and geese is an hour before sunset, or about 4 p. m.

Coaches Disagree on Reasons For Topheavy Grid Scoring

Leahy Says Offense May Be Overstressed

New York, Oct. 19 (AP)—College football is on a point-a-minute binge, but leading coaches disagreed today on what is responsible for the astronomical scoring trend.

"It's the platoon system," chorused one group of mentors, including Ivy Williamson of Wisconsin, Matty Bell of S.M.U., Jess Neely of Rice and J. V. Sikes of Kansas.

"The platoon system has nothing to do with it," argued others, such as Earl Blaik of Army, Henry Frank of Tulane and Biggie Munn of Michigan State.

Most of them agreed in an Associated Press survey that the sport has become definitely "offense minded," that coaches make no special effort to roll up impressive tallies and that the liberal substitution rule plays a big part in keeping the scoreboard busy.

They traced the assembly line point-making also to "eager beaver" substitutes who, thrown into a game to open the gates of mercy, close the gates instead with a hungry effort to make good.

Recently college scores have followed the pattern of the pros, reaching basketball proportions. "We're getting ten or twelve more plays a game now," said Sikes, whose Kansas team was mauled by Oklahoma Saturday 48-26. "I think the two platoon system is a contributing factor."

Blame Offenses

Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson attributed the scoring rise to intricate offensive maneuvers and added: "A defense cannot adequately cope with all formations."

Glisson, Top Jockey Injured in Fall

New York, Oct. 19 (AP)—A fractured collar bone could cost Gordon Glisson, darling of the 52 helter, a chance to be the leading jockey of the 1949 season.

The 19-year-old Winstboro, S. C., rider received the injury yesterday when he was thrown from the horse Marine Compo during the running of the third race.

Glisson had just booted home Isidore Bieber's Aim in the second race to run his number of winners to 249 for the year.

Taken to Physicians Hospital in Jackson Heights, X-rays disclosed the fracture of the right collarbone. Dr. Alexander Kaye said there was no fracture of the right arm as feared at first. Glisson will be sidelined for an indefinite period.

"Not long ago a team would use either the straight single wing, double wing or Notre Dame box," he said. "Then a team prepared a defense for one offense. Now a team will use ten or 12 variations of one formation. Now, for example, has 11 all the T. A team can't get ready for that many."

Notre Dame's Frank Leahy, whose Irish wallowed Tubino 46-7, said he never believed in running up a big score and always threw in the stats after building up a lead.

"On the other hand," he added, "reserves play hard to become 2.

Tugs Win Over Gale Rescuing Carrier Ship

Rosyth, Scotland, Oct. 19 (AP)—Two tiny tugs won their battle against a North Sea gale and pulled the damaged British Aircraft Carrier Albion into the protected Firth of Forth today.
The newly-built carrier was holed on the aft port side yesterday in a collision with the 2,025-ton coal-carrying British steamer, Maystone. The Maystone sank quickly with loss of 20 of her crew of 24.
For a time the gale edged the 18,300-ton Albion out to sea despite the straining of the tugs, which had been towing her when the collision occurred.
The gale was dying and the tugs were making four knots up the Firth this morning. They were expected to bring the ship into dry-dock late today. The vessel, manned by civilians, is being brought here to be fitted out. Four Maystone survivors are aboard.
In the interior of Alaska, temperatures range from 90 above in summer to 60 below in winter.

Conference Held On B'way Crossing To Settle Details

A conference on details of the Broadway crossing project was scheduled to be held at 2 p. m. today in the office of Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk.
Local officials and others concerned were to discuss phases of the elimination project with Benjamin Dugan, superintendent of construction for Lipsitt Inc., of New York city, the low bidder on the main crossing contract.
Those expected to attend were City Engineer Arthur J. Hallinan, Consulting Engineer Edward I. McCaffery, Ernest A. Steuding, superintendent of public works; Police Chief Raymond VanBuren, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, John J. Byrne, superintendent of the water department; Clinton L. Bogert, consulting engineer to the water department; Edwin T. Strong, district manager of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp.; Arnold Johnson of the New York Telephone Co., and Arthur Nash of Central Hudson's gas department.
The representative of the contractor was scheduled to discuss preliminary projects which must be completed before actual start of the main digging and construction work, such as the relocation of sewer, water and electric lines, the handling of traffic and the building of temporary streets in the area.

yesterday when his fighter plane crashed in a field in the north end of the city. Coroner Paul Mohly said papers on the body indicated the victim of the crash was 1st Lt. Walter Burnside, Jr., 24, of Floral Park, N. Y. Witnesses said the crash was an F-51, James Boop reported he saw smoke trailing from the plane as it passed.

President Receives Bill He Asked on 75-Cent-Hour Pay
Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—More than nine months after he asked for it, a bill boosting the minimum wage level from 40 to 75 cents an hour went to President Truman's desk today.
The Senate stamped final congressional approval yesterday on the measure, representing one of the main achievements of the President's domestic program.
The bill could mean an increase in pay for about 1,500,000 lower paid workers. However, because of a change in language, an indefinite number of those now under the law may be removed from its coverage.
With Congress set for adjournment tonight, the President's friends and foes were busy adding up the accomplishments—or lack of them—of one of the longest peacetime sessions.
Besides the minimum wage measure, administration Democrats counted as major results: extending rent control, providing for low-cost housing, authorizing rural telephone loans, boosting military, civil service and officials' pay, giving the President reorganization powers and increasing Commodity Credit Corp. storage facilities.
In foreign affairs the administration won approval of the North Atlantic Pact, extension of the European Recovery Program, continuation of the reciprocal trade agreements and authority and funds to arm European nations opposing communism.
On the domestic front, there was only one-chamber approval for aid to education, Social Security expansion, cleaning up the tax record and displaced persons bills. Action on these will be sought in next year's session.
On the debt side, Mr. Truman's friends had to chalk up their failure to repeal the Taft-Hartley Act, the action of both houses in ignoring the President's call for universal military training, inaction on civil rights and rejection of the proposal to create a single welfare department.

The President's proposal for compulsory health insurance went untouched. His proposal for industrial aid to underdeveloped countries never got to a vote in either house.
Before winding up tonight, Congress was expected to enact a farm price support bill along the lines that Mr. Truman is reported to favor.
General Says... contain only four per cent of the total manpower of the air force.
Vandenberg dismissed as "nothing but a series of assertions" navy claims that the B-36 could not do the strategic bombing job the air force says it can.
Vandenberg said he would not answer the navy claims item by item because he must resist the temptation to "describe publicly and in detail our equipment, our tactics, our knowledge of the resources and weaknesses of a potential enemy, and other matters on which our military success may depend."
The alternative to strategic bombing, Vandenberg argued, is an entirely defensive war.
"This alternative is militarily unsound," he added.
He emphasized he did not mean strategic bombing could win a war by itself. A future war, he said, will have to be won on the ground as past wars have been.
"But it is the objective of the strategic bombardment program—an objective which has been proved in battle—to weaken the sustaining sources of enemy troops that they can be defeated in less time at less cost."
Vandenberg said the committee hearings, brought on by navy protest against prevailing military policies, have "shaken the military establishment" through "serious problems of official and personal relationships."
He quickly added: "Nothing which has occurred in these hearings will in any way diminish the determination of the air force to Scientists now-a-days show their appreciation of the fruitful efforts of such men as Blakeslee. He has been invited to deliver the commencement addresses at the Medical College of Virginia and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. In 1935 his alma mater, the University of Michigan, conferred on him the honorary degree of master of science for "informed newspaper work." The next year the American Institute of New York City, one of the oldest scientific organizations in the United States, honored Mr. Blakeslee with its Fellowship Award.

His Honors Are Many
Other honors include the Pulitzer Prize, presented to a group of five writers for their work in reporting the Harvard Tercentenary Celebration; the National Headlines Award; the Washington Medal for distinguished science writing presented by the American Association for the Advancement of Science; Syracuse University's School of Journalism award for distinctive achievement in journalism; and the award of the American College Publicity Association for achievement in education.
Blakeslee was born March 21, 1880, in an Indian village on a sand strip in Northern Puget Sound, Territory of Washington, his father being a missionary to Indians, and his mother failing to start by canoe for civilization in time for his birth. This fact caused Blakeslee much grief more than 60 years later, when during World War 2, he wanted to prove that he was an American citizen. The Indian village had disappeared; only the sand strip remained as evidence.
